

The secret to help you 'score' absolute with Geography exam

For the first time at the 2017 National High School Exam, Geography was put into the test in the form of multiple choice tests. Before this change, the contestants need to know the following tips to get a high score in Geography.

Tomorrow 24/6 candidates will begin taking the final exams of the 2017 National High School Exam. This 2016-2017 school year, the first time Geography and History, Citizenship and Education are included National high school exam in the form of a combination exam, with the name of the social science test through multiple-choice. Testing can be easy to eat at a certain level and avoid candidates from being paralyzed. But to what extent the high score depends greatly on the investment attention of the year and the skill of doing the lesson.

In the combination of 3 subjects of Geography, History and Citizenship Education, the easiest subject to "score" among 3 subjects of C-grade is geography. To be able to achieve absolute results in this exam you should master the following "tips".

1. Avoid "learning cabinet" situation

This year with multiple-choice tests, knowledge will be spread out in all questions, so it is imperative for students to change the way of learning as well as the way of thinking to avoid the situation "study cabinet, study deviation ". When reviewing, students should review all knowledge in textbooks, because as the exam structure that the Ministry has announced, the exam questions will be distributed according to 5 topics: natural geography (7 sentences), geography residential (3 sentences), geography of economic sectors (10 sentences), economic geography (10 sentences), practice (10 sentences).

2. Review by topic

It is also necessary to avoid mistaken misconceptions that testing only tests the ability to remember details without checking higher-order thinking skills. Therefore, in order to prepare well for the TS test, they must know how to learn correctly and comprehensively to master the entire content of program knowledge and skills rather than cramming into a lot of loose details. Ripped.

Reviewing helps candidates to consolidate and re-educate their knowledge in the best way. When reviewing, candidates need to review topics such as natural Vietnam, social population, economic sectors and economic regions. Each content of the review, please systematically shorten it to make it easier to remember. You can study in a tree-shaped mind map, or write on memo sheets so you can always remember knowledge.

3. Atlas reading and analysis is an advantage

Atlas không phải là tài liệu thay thế cho bất kì nguồn tài liệu địa lý nào khác, nó chỉ có hiệu quả đối với những học sinh có kiến thức và kĩ năng sử dụng.

According to high school students who recognize and evaluate generally, Geography 12 is one of the subjects if Atlas's understanding is to do well. So Atlas has a very important role. This is also the document that the Ministry of Education and Training allows candidates to bring in and use in the examination room.

If you know how to apply the knowledge available in Atlas, you can exploit a great deal of information to apply to the test.

However, the competitor is also not allowed to receive Atlas as a substitute for any other geographic resource. Atlas is only effective for students with knowledge and skills to use it. Therefore, you need to know the skills of analyzing this particular material, which is based on Atlas to understand the common signs of minerals, agriculture, industry, forestry and fisheries .
