

The set of real descriptions of modern life is startling, people become more and more lost in their own world

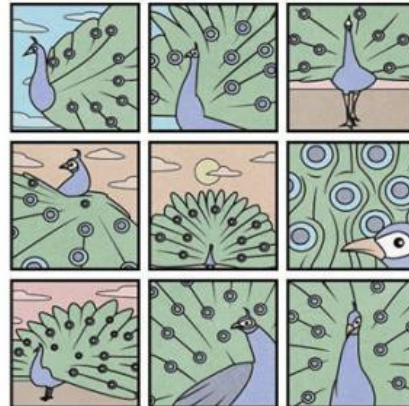

Russian artist Anton Gudim observed and re-enacted dark, tragic angles in the lives of 'modern' people through his caricatures.

Modern society gives us a lot of advantages such as always updating new things, modern technologies, observing the world more easily . But accompanying it is the left side, the hidden corner , the loneliness that people face also increases. Behind the masks that each person draws for themselves are the "modern tragedies" that everyone faces. Russian artist Anton Gudim observed and reflected those dark, tragic angles in the lives of 'modern' people through his caricatures.

On social networks, everything is always painted beautifully and beautifully, causing people to expect and delusion too much.

Is this true? The question that everyone probably posed before anything posted on social networks.

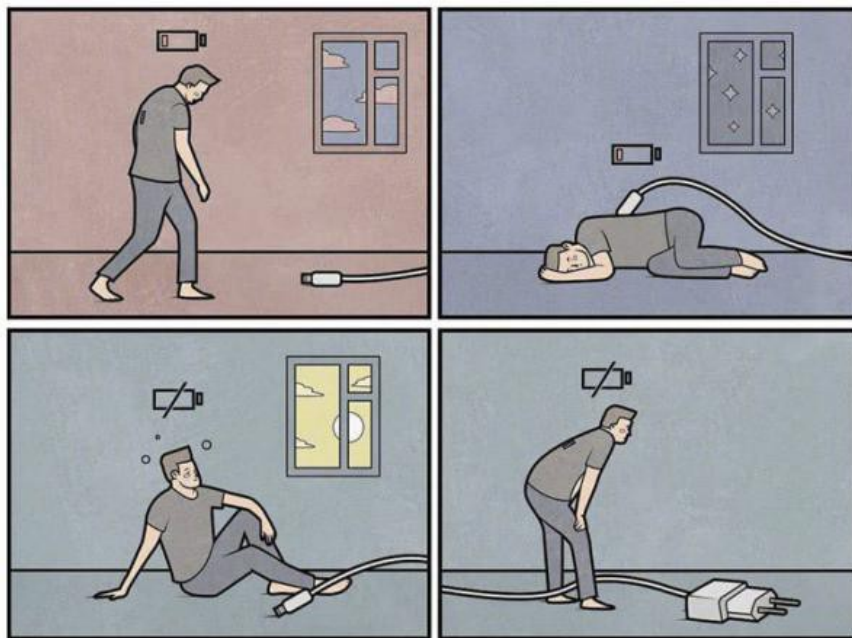

We can optionally draw and weave everything with pink and gray colors for our lives.

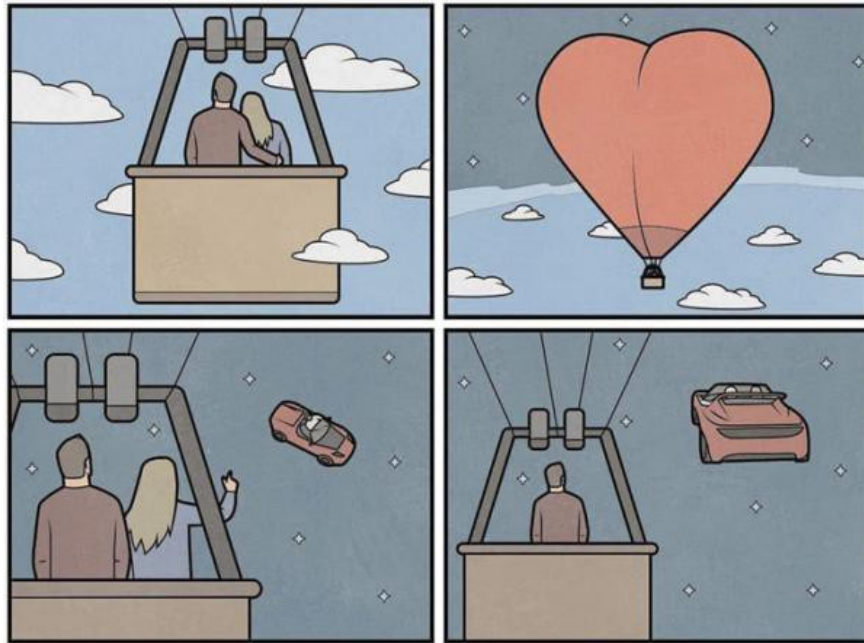

People think that it is possible to create another person on social networks, on the Internet no one knows. But in fact, nothing is a secret and then one day all will be exposed.

Modern technology makes people exhausted energy, not to make our life more comfortable or better.

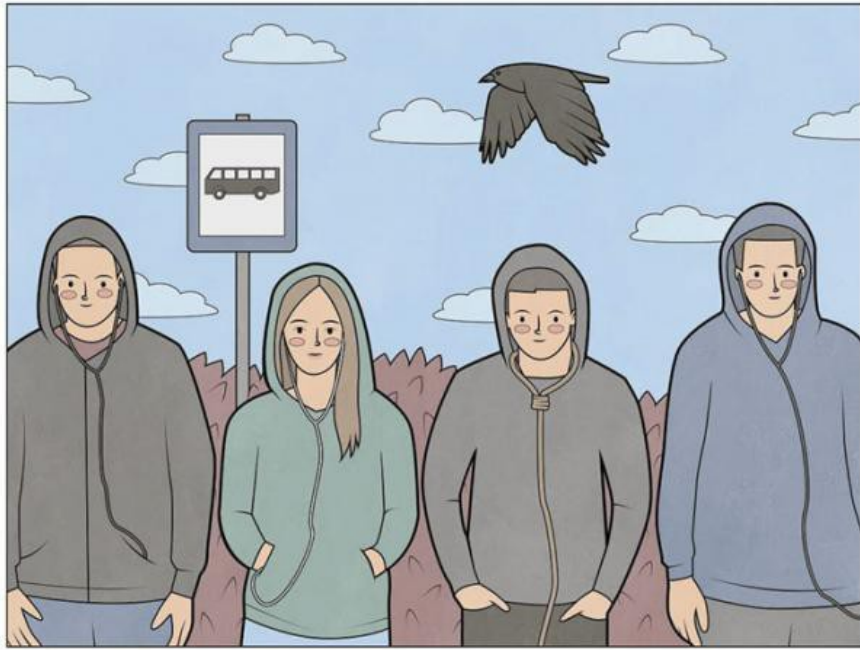

Before starting a relationship, people often ask the question, 'Can I eat romance?'

Despite being with someone, loneliness still exists.

When exposed to modern technology, people isolate themselves.

Ever since, virtual worlds and phones have become an integral part of our own bodies.

Finally, the backpack full of sadness and emptiness is the one next to me, accompanying us.
