

The true form of the Impostors in Among Us

We will know what Impostor looks like in Among Us, what really is in this article.

While playing Among Us, you have seen how many Impostor killers are. Which is a few knife stabbing back, punching a hit to fall back down and shoot a gun in the head with a gun or simply break the neck.

Although not very important, but it also makes many players a little startled if new to play both on Among Us PC and Among Us Mobile and may feel a little creepy. At that time, everyone thought that these Pretenders were really just human-like members and just played the villain role in the game.

Until you catch an Impostor opening a mouth wide to its ears, sticking a long, pointed tongue that pierces the heads of the crew members. This raises the question of what shape are the Thieves under the crew mantle.

There have been a lot of works created by fans Among Us (Fan Art), claiming that the Impostors are common people, but a parasite in the game enters the bodies of the crew, transforming them into monsters with hideous forms.

Among Us's True Form

And most recently Raf Grassetti , Artistic Director of Sony Santa Monica Studios and some part-time fan-art members here shared an explanation of what is under the mask of the Thief. with Raf Grassetti's Instagram-filled haunting way.

In his reimagination, he said that it was a monster with wriggling tentacles protruding from his astronaut suit. And when the parasite inside got through the crew members' spectacles and killed them.

This description seems to be properly inspired by Among Us's Thief's murderous methods where Impostor opens his pointed teeth and pierces a crew member's head with his tentacles.

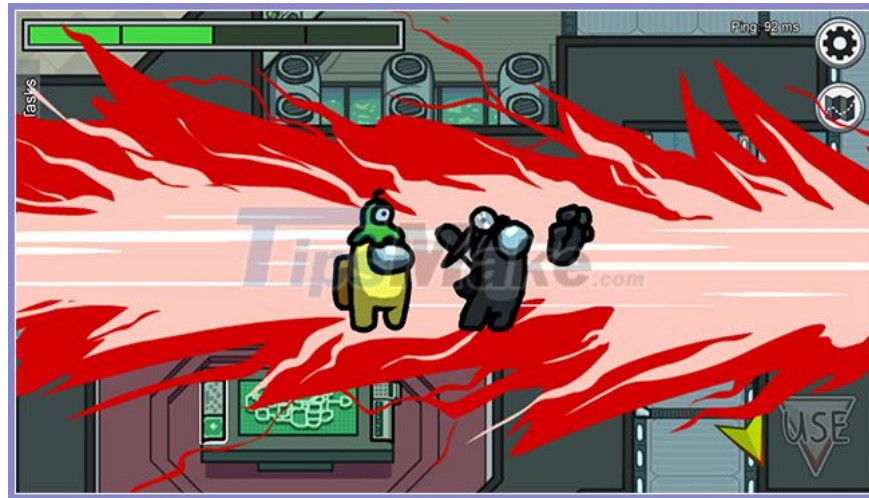

Of course, this is not the only work to be inspired by Among Us's kill animations after the game's success. Before that, a user of Youtube and Twitter with the account name is Neytirix created a small comic strip also inspired by Among Us.

With only three pictures depicting Among Us's stages leading to the elimination of a member in the game. Thereby we can see that players are not simply saying what they witnessed and sure to everyone it is true.

But they also use their convincing and acting skills to get others to vote and push the other players to death the way they push the Impostors off the ship and they are the Crewmates on the team.

With the above images, now, Among Us players can imagine the horror disguised under the colorful suits in Among Us. Thereby increasing the attraction for the game.
