

The truth after the brain-damaging photos has made users crazy on the Internet

In the past year, netizens have many times argued fiercely about the authenticity of photos of 'hack' viewers' minds.

1. 7 tough questions only experienced detectives can break
2. 18 types of sculptures are very characteristic of the first people with electricity
3. Pleasures cannot be more 'horror' than that of the ancients

In the past year, probably many times netizens have to get up, heated debate about the truth behind the image of 'hack' viewers' brains. The photos at first glance seem very normal, but hidden inside them are strange things that only smart people can recognize.

1. Kendall Jenner is like "losing" a leg in the image

Earlier this year, in a photo in InStyle magazine published a photo of three models including Kendall Jenner, Kylie Jender and Hailey Baldwin on Instagram. In this photo, the viewer once again bewildered and woken up, posing a question as to why in Kendall Jenner's one-legged image seems to have . disappeared!

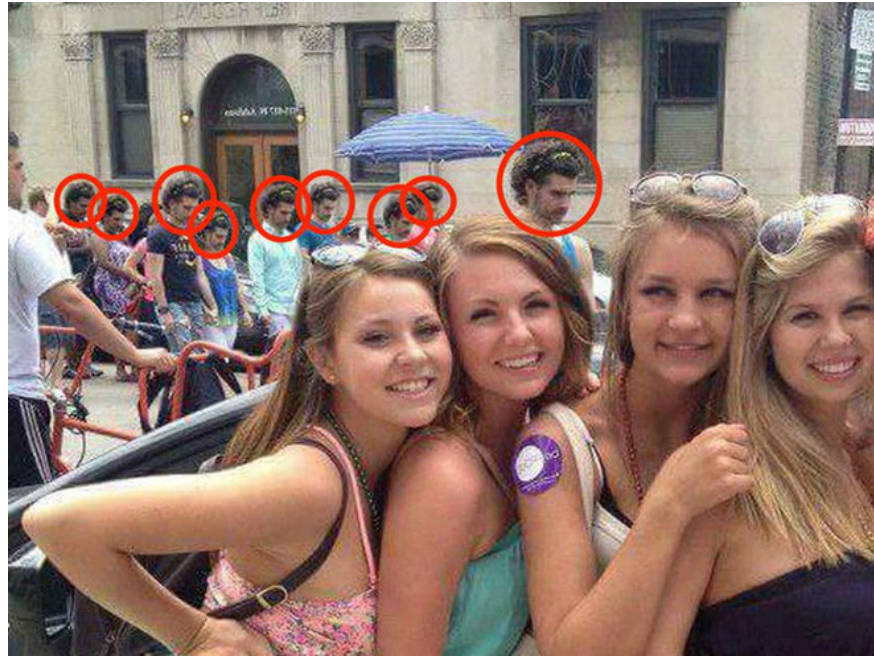

But in fact, Kendall Jenner's legs didn't disappear anywhere, it was just under the dress she was wearing. If the eye is looking a bit, the bulging part of the skirt is the other line of legs that many people think it disappears.

2. There is a strange point in this image, do you recognize it?

In this picture, do you see anything special in it?

Perhaps you will be paying attention to those beautiful girls, see if they are different, right? But the fact that these main characters are not unusual, the special thing in this photo is the background, which is all the faces are edited into a guy with curly hair.

3. Do you see these legs "fat"?

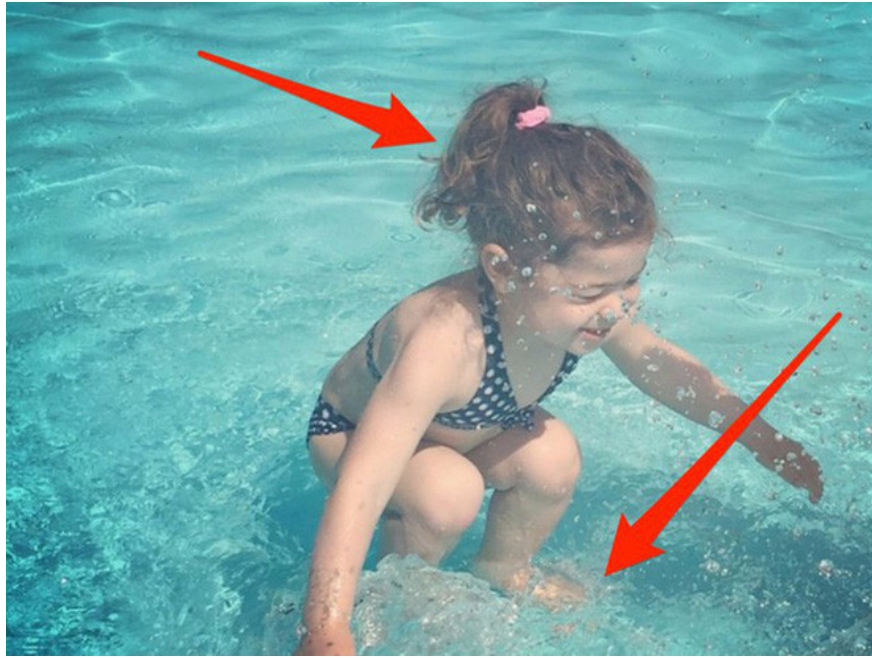

In October 2016 Hunter Culverhouse, an art student, posted on his Instagram. Culverhouse's leg was as if it had just been applied to a fat layer, after posting this image, it received countless social media comments saying that the owner had applied varnish or something on his leg.

When the image is cut back, you will see how the white paint stains have been fooled. Sharing with Insider, Culverhouse said this image is an unintentional, unintended setting. It was taken right after she finished a homework assignment.

4. Is this baby under or above the water?

In 2015, reddit users broke out into a debate that according to you, the girl in the picture is below or in the water. The majority leaned on the idea that she was playing with the water, the few insisted that this was a picture taken when the whole body of the little girl sank in the clear blue water.

The answer here is that this baby is actually on the water because if you are under the water, you will not be able to hit the bubbles like in the picture. There is also a proof that this is because if the baby's hair gets wet in the water, this girl's hair is still dry and in the wind.

5. The strange dress

Perhaps many people still can not forget the picture has a dress that is said to have different colors. Some people claim that this dress is white gold, but many people claim it is dark green. In short, what color is it?

This dress is dark blue and this is the reason why many people see other colors.

According to scientists, our bodies are not the same, and the amount of eye light we receive is also different. Moreover, there are people who are sensitive to blue light, so only the skirt is dark blue. In contrast, individuals who are less sensitive to this green will only see a yellow-and-white skirt.

You finished reading the article "The truth after the brain-damaging photos has made users crazy on the Internet" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.