

The weirdest photos from abandoned websites on the Internet

For nearly 10 years, photographer Doug Battenhausen has been flipping through popular but now-abandoned sharing platforms like Photobucket, Flickr or Webshot to find photos that capture the strangest moments of the life. forgotten life.

For nearly 10 years, photographer Doug Battenhausen has been flipping through popular but now-abandoned sharing platforms like Photobucket, Flickr or Webshot to find photos that capture the strangest moments of the life. forgotten life.

The photos selected by Doug Battenhausen are works capable of evoking viewers' emotions, happy, sad, but most of them evoke a feeling of 'sadness, ease and ease'.

Even the photos Doug Battenhausen collected during the past 10 years have been displayed at the Rhode Island School of Design.

Hulk's hand - green giant?

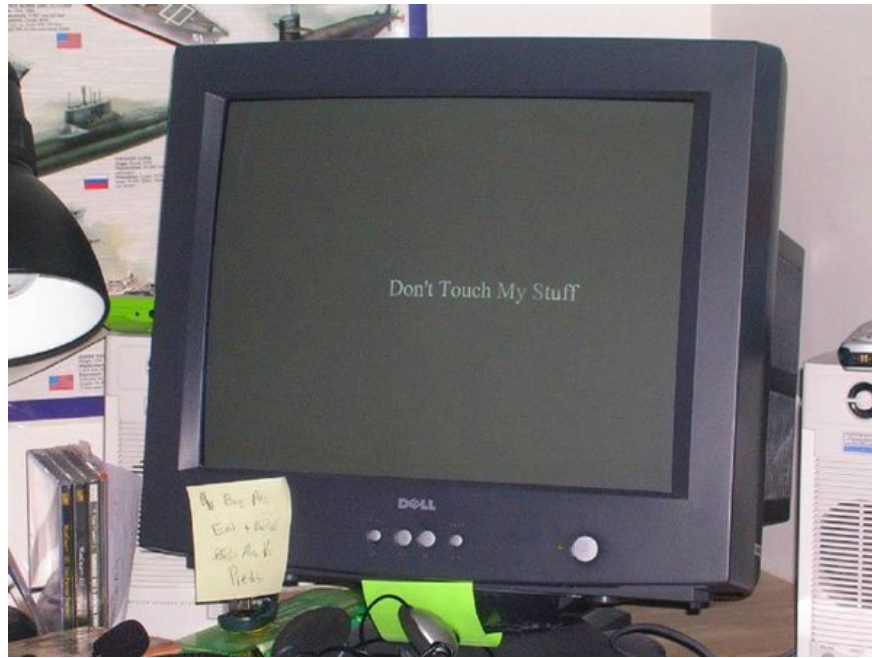

"Need to recruit staff, starting salary from 550 to 600 USD / hour", a salary too attractive but what the job?

In recent years, the noise effect (noise) has become one of the hottest design trends.

In the past, whoever owned this "dinosaur" screen was a bit of an outrage.

Live slowly, stop smoking a cigarette.

Does God always guide the way for those who believe in him?

The year is in season.

What is the girl doing?

His smoking process has reached the prime.

The memory of the last high school session suddenly rushed back when we looked at this photo.

'I have to stay in this state for ever'.

Stuttering took 5 seconds to flip through this picture.

How do people take this zero-gravity picture and what's in the shape of Pepsi cans?

Why do people hang up pinching hair on the wall again, looks horrible!

It seems the brakes don't eat very well.

Basic bridge playing homemade version.

Sad outcome of the dinosaur when lost?

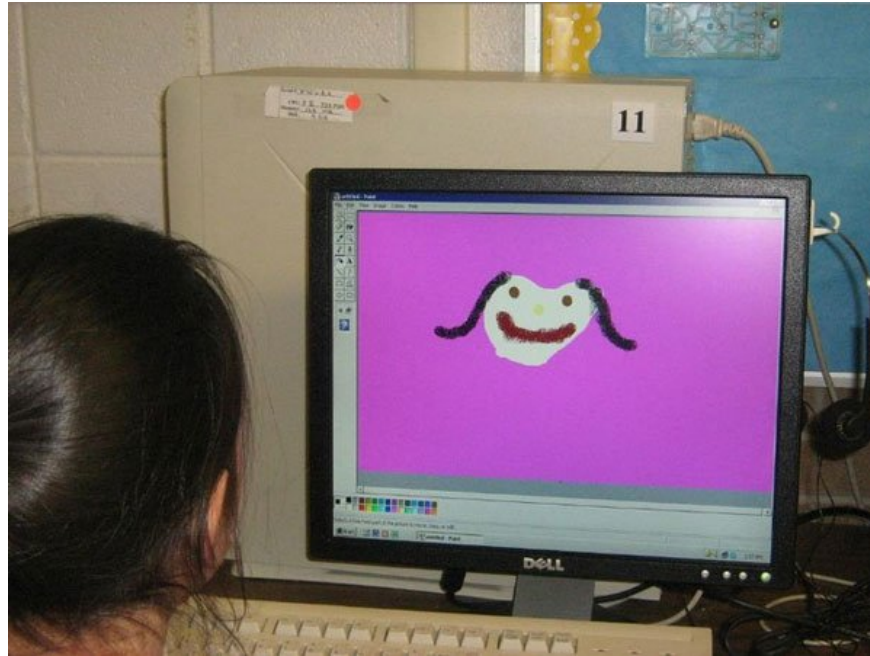

In the past, anything shown on TV did not miss it.

What the hell is going on with the salt shaker in the picture?

The place to discover the talents of the greatest designers.

In addition to the photos above, you can also see the latest weird work that this guy has discovered through the link below.

<https://internethistory.tumblr.com/>

1. The series of pictures showing the world filled with wonders, the imagination of people is far from catching up
2. Bananas are not only for eating, they can also create unique works of art

You finished reading the article "The weirdest photos from abandoned websites on the Internet" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.