

The whole sky of memories rushed back to look at the old, hundred-year-old items in the house

These items have been associated with your family for generations and when you see them, the sky is filled with memories.

Many families today still have some old things from the time their grandparents and parents left and so far they are still 'running well'. These items have been associated with your family for generations and when you see them, the sky is filled with memories.

Do you have anything older than yourself in the house, bring out the 'same' with the 'good for years' items below.

FilOfTheFuture90 member of the Reddit community shows off the shiny 80-year-old family pan still used for everyday cooking.

This briefcase has been in production since 1880. Although it is 139 years old, it is still very solid.

How many people know this is a pencil sharpener? It has also gone through 99 school seasons.

This 135-year-old bottle of wine doesn't know how many liters it contains.

A coffee grinder from Peugeot, it's a hundred years old.

'For over 60 years this Lionel train has been decorating under my Christmas tree. It was bought by my grandfather in 1952.'

Staple dating back to 1962.

This Waterman pen has a lifespan of up to 97 years.

The fridge WWII Frigidaire from my grandmother's time.

The 42-year-old pot is still clean, without scars. Score 10/10 points carefully for their owner.

This sunglasses was bought by my mother in 1989. Nowadays it is still trendy and I am using it.

My 70-year-old Emerson fan. It has become an indispensable part of the family even though there are air conditioners, induction fans.

With 80 years of age, this German dryer must have witnessed a person's head from the time when their hair was green and navigable to white.

The 25-year-old sandals and leather straps are solid even though the sole is worn out. It is unknown how many kilometers it has traveled in its lifetime.

On my parents' wedding 35 years ago, they bought this North Face shirt and it is still in use today.

'This is the razor my grandfather left behind, he's 99 years old now. I am still using it today. '

The phrase '100 years still runs fine' is absolutely correct for this sewing machine.

1. A rare set of photos of micro apartments like the 'coffins' in Hong Kong
2. Looking through the pictures looking through is extremely unreasonable but are 100% real without editing

You finished reading the article "The whole sky of memories rushed back to look at the old, hundred-year-old items in the house" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.