

The Windows Store will be renamed to Microsoft Store in Windows 10

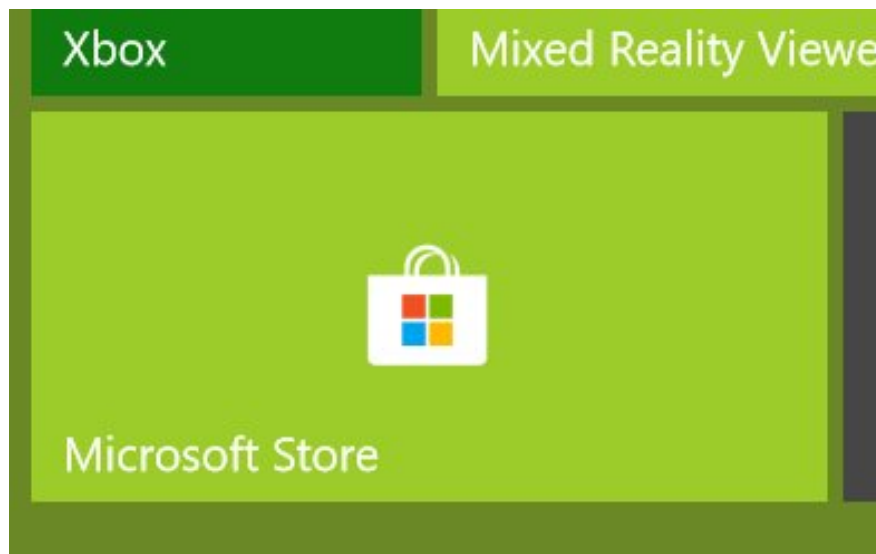

Microsoft is ready for the new Windows Store innovation in Windows 10. Earlier this year, Microsoft announced it could modify the Windows Store brand into Microsoft Store, where it will sell more products than apps, games and other content for Windows 10 devices. Finally, this change has been announced.

Microsoft is ready for the new Windows Store innovation in Windows 10. Earlier this year, Microsoft announced it could modify the Windows Store brand into Microsoft Store, where it will sell more products than apps, games and other content for Windows 10 devices. Finally, this change is also officially announced.

Redmond implemented the Windows Store application update to Windows Insiders in the Release Preview channel. The update comes with a new icon for Microsoft Store. The Microsoft Store logo at the moment looks pretty simple, but I hope this is not the last icon of this new store in Windows 10.

1. Surface laptop hardware testing tool is now available in Windows Store
2. Download Ubuntu right in Windows Store only brothers

Microsoft rebranded Windows Store to help users buy more products in Windows 10. The company may soon allow users to buy products such as Surface hardware or third-party products such as Fitbit in the Microsoft Store application. The new brand also makes it a platform - making TV shows and movies purchased from Microsoft Store available on different devices and on the web.

Hopefully, Microsoft will soon officially introduce new features and products into Microsoft Store for users' convenience.

You finished reading the article "The Windows Store will be renamed to Microsoft Store in Windows 10" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---