The Android TV YouTube app has been redesigned and added the option to change the quality of the deleted video for some reason in the previous version.

The Android TV YouTube app has been redesigned and added the option to change the quality of the deleted video for some reason in the previous version.

In case you have not heard of Android TV, it is essentially an Android version for smart TVs and multimedia devices, such as Razer Forge and Xiaomi Mi Box. Android TV is Google TV's successor, launched in 2010.

1. What else do you not know about Android TV?

Now, let's talk about the update. Although it doesn't make too much of an improvement, the things that it adds are favored by the Android TV community. The first thing you will notice is that the application has a new visual design. Some tabs around and the search bar are also refreshed.
