

There is an additional 2GB of Google Drive permanently only by simple operation

In response to the Internet Safety Day (February 10), Google will give you 2GB of permanent storage on Google Drive if you will check the security settings for your account.

In response to the Internet Safety Day (February 10), Google will give you 2GB of permanent storage on Google Drive if you will check the security settings for your account.

It is very simple : access the Google Account, then press the " Get Started " word in the " Security checkup " section. In it, make sure to update all account information, review the recent login list and confirm the list of apps that have access to Drive. If you see a green tick as the image below, you are successful.

This promotion only lasts until February 17th, so you have to hurry up. Note that the above free 2GB is only for personal accounts, not for Google Apps accounts (companies, organizations, schools). The account's capacity cannot be added to 2GB immediately, but by February 28, Google will simultaneously update and send you email notifications.

Nicely done, you're all set.

Thanks for helping us look out for your security. We'll let you know if we ever see anything fishy, and you should feel free to run this checklist again whenever you want.

- ✓ Recovery information checked
- ✓ Recent activity checked
- ✓ Account permissions checked

Continue to account settings

You finished reading the article "There is an additional 2GB of Google Drive permanently only by simple operation" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.