404 error - page not found error has become familiar to everyone who regularly uses the Internet. But one thing is certain, most people do not realize there is something wrong with this error page of Google.

Don't believe it, try looking at this picture to see if you find anything out of the ordinary.

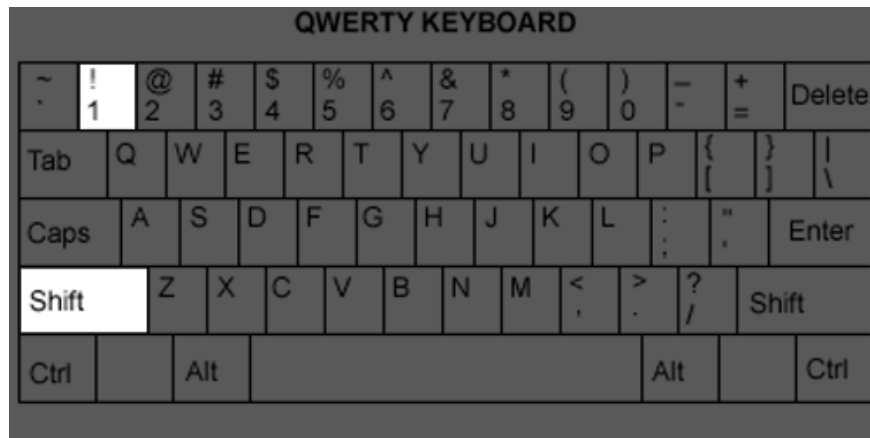

Now look at the answer below to see if your findings are correct.

Just go to any website to report any 404 error from Google root, you will see there are 2 exclamation marks "!" and 1 number 1. In the same position, there must be 3 '!'. It is not clear whether the employee at Google tried to calculate or accidentally get this error.

On the keyboard, the key presses the "!" The same position with the number "1". To make a "!" Sign instead of "1", the typist needs to combine the "Shift" key at the same time. Obviously, when doing the job Google employees accidentally hit the combination "Shift + 1" and keep it not long enough to type 3 exclamation marks

At Google, everything has to go through many stages of review and testing of many people before being put on the system. Therefore, the existence of such an error until now is unbelievable, even a little humorous. Not knowing the cause of the error still exists today because it is a difficult task or they are lazy.

To witness this error in person, you just need to add the "/" + syntax [any series of numbers] after the Google homepage link, such as google.com/1357 or copy and paste the following link into the address bar. just.
