

These 9 GIFs will remind you of the brightest technologies 2016

What is simpler, easier to understand and more concise than GIF? Let's take a look at 9 photos of the most memorable technology in 2016

What is simpler, easier to understand and more concise than GIF?

Undeniably, 2016 is a year of technological development flourishing. We have virtual reality technology ever more realistic, robots are getting smarter with more and more advanced artificial intelligence, we have technology to research and modify genes that are turning to new pages.

So, how to sum up all the wonders of technology last year? The answer is a set of 9 GIF images below, selected from the most prominent technology selected by MIT Technology Review. Simple but informative photos will show you how memorable the last 2016 technology year!

1. Robot for people who are busy with work without time to move, or simply lazy

The good news is we are developing a cleaning robot. The bad news is that the development process is a bit slow.

2. Mark Zuckerberg raised the ambition of human atlas