The prestigious TIME magazine honors the most impressive inventions and devices every year. However, this year is a bit different, as this year marks the end of a decade lasting from 2010. Therefore, TIME magazine has voted the list of the best technology equipment in the whole a past decade.

Apple's iPad tops the list. It was a coincidence, when the first iPad was introduced by Steve Jobs in January 2010 and was about 10 years old.

TIME editor Patrick Austin says the iPad is like the iPhone, fueling a change in the user's computing culture:

'Before the iPad was launched in 2010, the idea of a tablet only appeared in science fiction movies. And while rivals have plenty of time to create ultra-thin laptops or 2-in-1 hybrid devices, Apple continues to upgrade its iPadOS platform and hardware to maintain a position. certain'

iPad has also changed a lot since the first version was released nearly 10 years ago. Apple has introduced many versions with different sizes. In particular, iPad Pro has redefined a tablet, with a large screen, high performance, Apple Pencil and better support for work to completely replace the computer.

Another Apple device that was also voted by TIME magazine is the Apple Watch. The first Apple Watch was launched in 2014, so far has been greatly improved. Although there are many competitors on the market, Apple Watch still dominates.

The AirPods wireless headset has also been on the list of the best devices for the past decade. Launched in 2016, AirPods quickly became Apple's best-selling product. According to TIME, AirPods have become an icon in their own way, compared to the past in the iPod.

Here is a list of the 10 best devices in the past decade voted by TIME magazine:

1. Apple iPad (2010)
2. Tesla Model S (2012)
3. Raspberry Pi (2012)
4. Google Chromecast (2013)
5. DJI Phantom (2013)
