

Tips for building characters and formations in Genshin Impact

The diverse and beautiful character system is one of the things that attracts Genshin Impact players. When acquiring characters in Genshin Impact, people need to equip artifacts and weapons to reward them.

Besides, each character has a unique way of building to achieve the best combat efficiency. Let's explore the most effective tips to build the Genshin Impact character.

Genshin Impact's character building rules

Each character in Genshin Impact has a different build, but there are some rules that are common to all. Here are the top ground rules on how to make characters stronger in Genshin Impact.

Know your character's role

Being aware of the best roles of the characters is very important to choose the best weapons and artifacts for them. For example, focus on DPS characters and equip the best weapons and artifacts. Besides, players should enhance weapons and artifacts to increase their effects.

Learn the elements of the character

Players should understand their character elements well to be able to choose the best artifact with the right effects. For example, Crimson Witch of Flames, Tenacity of the Millelith, and Gladiator's Finale are the best artifact choices for Pyro characters, such as Hu Tao, Diluc, Klee, etc.

Upgrade to level 90

Try to upgrade your character to level 90 early. Everyone needs to gather enough leveling materials and as many experience books as possible. The higher the character's level, the more experience books are needed.

Upgrading to 90 will require hundreds of Hero's Wit books. Try to get them from quest rewards, Battle Pass rewards and buy at Realm Depot in Serenitea Pot.

Get 4 or 5 star items

Get 4-5 star items and weapons from domains and wish banners. Players need to defeat very dangerous bosses in high level domains to get 4-5 star items.

Craft 4-star weapons with White Iron Chunks, Crystal Chunks, a weapon cast, and Mora in the Forging System. The 5-star item is only available in the Wish Banner and must use Intertwined Fates and try your luck.

Follow these rules to make the characters the most powerful. They can then contribute more damage in teamfights and take down opponents quickly.

Rules of team building in Genshin Impact

After building every character in Genshin Impact, choose 2-4 characters to build your team in co-op or single player mode. Here are the rules for team building in Genshin Impact.

DPS . Role

Choose DPS characters based on boss domain and abilities, elemental resistance, weakness, strength, and anti-element rule. For example, choose Hu Tao or Diluc as DPS against Cryo bosses, such as Cryo Hypostasis and Cryo Regisvine.

If you have to clear an area of ??water with small boss waves, you can choose Electro DPS. Also, people should choose 5 star characters for DPS roles.

Secondary DPS role

When choosing secondary DPS characters, consider elemental reactions and resonances. Combine with elements of DPS to give enemies the deadliest attack with powerful response.

For example, after applying an electric shock to an enemy with Fischl, switch to Diluc and use powerful fire slashes along with the attribute skill of and explosion to cause Overload reactions.

Support and healing characters

Depending on the target and the enemy, the player can make the decision whether to choose a support character, a healer, or both. Barbara is the best healer in Genshin Impact now. Xingqiu is the best support with big attack bonus.

In addition, choose a Geo supporter when fighting a powerful boss with physical attacks, such as Geovishap Hatchling and Geovishap.

Combat Range

Another rule for choosing a team character is to consider the combat range. If the boss can fly, choose at least one archer and one catalyst character (e.g. Eye of Storm flies for half a match). Therefore, the player should choose an archer to continue to deal damage when it is not on the ground. If fighting the Regisvine boss, recruit melee characters to attack the core and take them down quickly.

The lineup to use in Genshin Impact

From the basic rules for team building in Genshin Impact, everyone can choose the best characters for the battle. Alternatively, choose other characters with similar elements, weapons, and features if no suggested character is available.

Take a look at the top Genshin Impact lineups suggested below with each team needing a DPS character or two, consisting of a primary DPS and a secondary DPS.
