

Tips for choosing safe technology products when shopping online

Through a few sharing experiences to buy online items in this article, you will choose the best technology and electronic products.

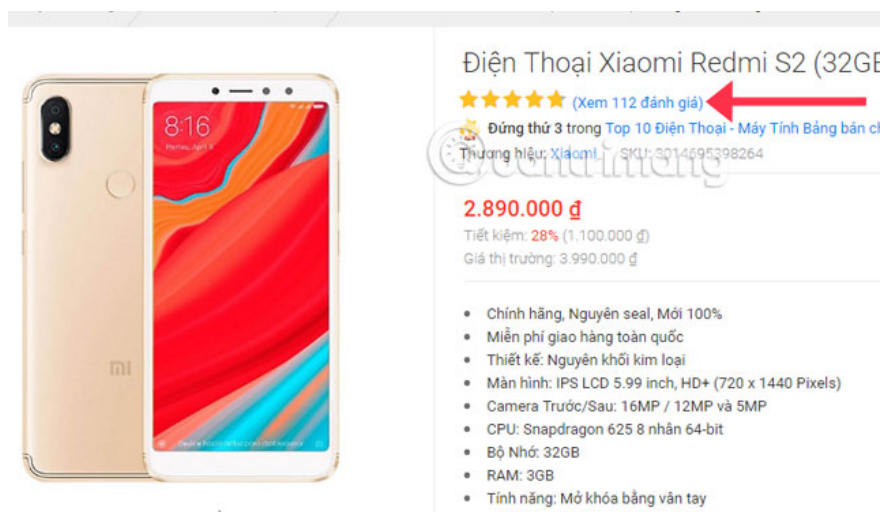

The trend of online shopping on applications, online shopping sites is growing rapidly. E-commerce retail statistics and reports have reached trillions of dollars and account for a large part of the total global retail sales, which proves that users are increasingly favoring online shopping. .

The products that users often see when participating in online shopping on the network include consumer goods, household goods, electronics, food . Including electronic goods is the most puzzling many people By not knowing the quality of the product, choosing the brand . So how can users choose safe online technology products, please refer to a few tips below this article ok

1. How to get discount code Shopee
2. Ways to get discount codes Lazada
3. 15 cases of "bad cry laughing" when buying goods online

Tips for choosing safe technology products when shopping online

1. Check by reviewing user reviews

Current online shopping apps and sites all have product reviews from people who have already purchased items, who have not ordered the product yet to comment on the product. So this is a factor that helps buyers assess how safe the product is from that store.

You can select ratings from 1 star to 5 stars in product search settings, then select the product you want to buy with the most positive reviews or see products with rating from 2 up to 4 stars to get close to the most realistic ideas.

2. View reviews, time of participation of the Shop

In other words, this is to check the reliability of the product supplier, sales shop. The filtering tool in online shopping applications will allow users to check the reliability of the sales shop according to the product that the shop offers, of course, that shop must be active for a while and have interaction. With the customer, you will get the best rating about that shop.

If you are not sure about the shop's information, you can go to some genuine booths at online shopping channels, Lazada's LazMall is a shopping channel with many quality products from reputable brands. Credit, not to mention many deals with very preferential prices, you can refer to this shopping channel of Lazada.

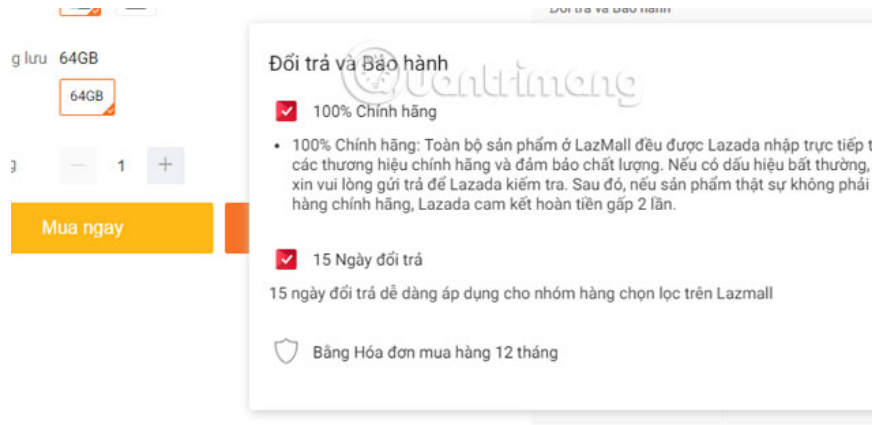

3. Exchange with Shop sales, suppliers

Illustration

This is also a way that users should try, although it takes some time because there are many shops that receive a lot of customer inboxes. You can chat directly with the shop so that the shop can answer questions about the product or shop for advice about products that interest you. Depending on the advice attitude of the Shop, you can decide whether to choose products from that store or not.

4. Warranty and return policy

This is probably a matter of concern only after the product price, if consumer goods, household goods and consumer goods (not belonging to electronic products) are of a consumption nature, the users only concern With regard to product quality, while technology and electronic products are in addition to product quality, buyers are also interested in the after-sales mode of that product.

Most online shops have a warranty for the electronic products, technology products they sell, you should carefully review the warranty policies to get the best support when the product meets the problem. try to damage. Especially with Lazada shopping app, users can be more secure when they have iCare Center repair and warranty center in Ho Chi Minh City.

Users wishing to buy phone, tablet, laptop bought on Lazada to iCare Center nearest, just need to provide the order number or phone number ordered for iCare employees, you will be checked Check, repair and warranty completely free. In case the warranty has expired, Lazada customers will be supported with the most preferential repair price.

Hopefully, with some of the above online shopping experience, users will choose the best technology products and electronic products when buying technology products over a secure network.

See more:

1. Distinguish old technology items, phones like new, build goods, fake goods, warranty returns
2. 8 indispensable technological items for professional players
3. 8 super hidden features on the phone or you may not know
4. List of the world's smallest technology items

You finished reading the article "Tips for choosing safe technology products when shopping online" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.