PUBG Mobile playing tips to survive the last

1. Select a safe skydiving position

The war will begin with our parachuting and landing. Grounding positions should choose places that are not crowded, because at that time you did not have preparation or skills for the war.

If we choose crowded places, it is inevitable that we face battles. So let's take a look at the position of parachuting when it is high, see how many people also choose that position to turn.

2. Concentrate loot map

At some 'gold' loot locations, there will definitely be a lot of opponents. If you accidentally entered the battlefield, quickly loot the item, especially the weapon and quickly escape from that place. Priority to pick up weapons in locations.

3. Don't move in an empty place

Getting me into the war is not a wise thing but I should find a place to hide. Don't go back and forth between a wild field with no tall trees to shield, flat mountain roads. Quickly find the vehicle or the mountain slope with many trees to limit the enemy's range.

Limiting shooting with the enemy with the enemy is inevitable. Should find a good hiding position, then find a way to attack the enemy.

4. Be careful with the supply box

Supply boxes will be freed on planes. If the supply box is close to your position, pay attention and watch around, before picking up the supply box. If you want to destroy the enemy, you can use the supply box as bait to handle other enemies.

5. Do not destroy the enemy out of range

Attention to the shooting distance is essential. If the enemy is about 200-300 m away and the player is using a grenade or a distant enemy who needs a shotgun, we will accidentally reveal our position. Please calculate the location to use appropriate weapons.

6. Fight with friends

Squad's teammate mode also offers more experience than Solo mode. For teammates, we can eliminate 4 people or less at the same time, the number of players also decreases. However, gamers also need to pay attention to whether the team will lack manpower or type soon out of the round.

Regardless of the game PUBG Mobile or Rules of Survival, players need to have careful calculations in the game. Of course, when you are new to the game, you will inevitably make silly mistakes, or quickly get out of the game. But playing more will have more experience fighting for yourself.
