Typing.io is a great online typing speed test website for coders. Unlike most other websites, typing.io only allows you to write plain English text, this site focuses on tests of typing speed based on programming language.

There are a total of 16 programming languages available (like C #, jQuery, Java, Erlang, Scala, etc.) and you can choose any of them to test your typing speed. This site helps you to enter complete code, including the cryptic characters you will come across while programming (like [{}~, etc.). So if you are a programmer and want to improve the speed of your coding then this will be the right website for you.
