

Top 10 most popular social networks today

Top 10 most popular social networks today. Our lives today are full of Internet connection and it is also a stepping stone for a series of social networks launched and operated. When learning about social networks, we will see a range of different names and how they work in completely different ways.

Our lives today are full of Internet connection and it is also a stepping stone for a series of social networks launched and operated. When learning about social networks, we will see a range of different names and how they work in completely different ways. In this article, Software Tips will introduce to you the Top 10 most popular social networks today.

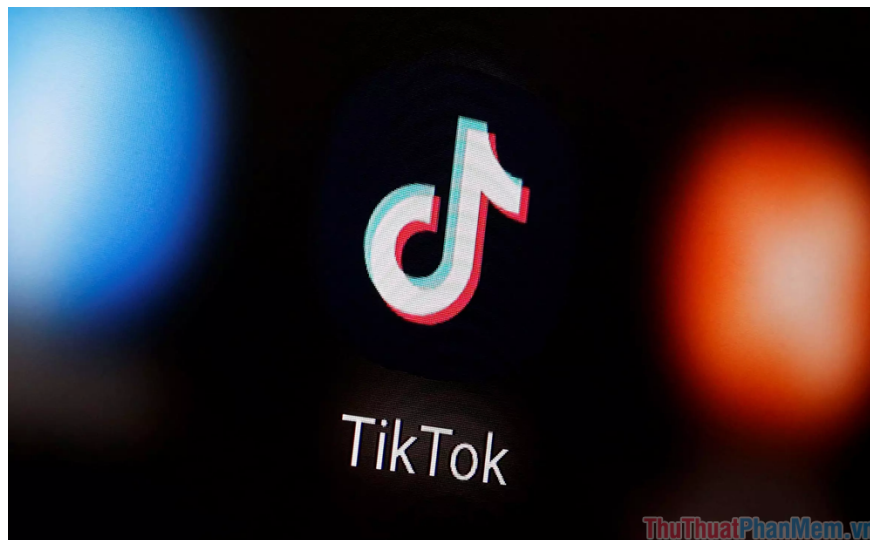

1. Facebook social network

Facebook is currently the largest and most popular social network in the world today with a large and growing number of users. In Vietnam, Facebook is known as a social network for sharing content, entertainment, exchanges, . it seems that everything you can search on Facebook. However, the current social network Facebook is exploiting user information relatively much and has many ads with content inappropriate for many groups of people.

2. Video sharing social network - TikTok

TikTok is probably the fastest growing video content social network in the world. In just the last 02 years, TikTok has earned billions of different users in the world and including Vietnam. If you do not believe it, you try to surf Facebook to see, every day there must be thousands of clips filmed from TikTok posted to Facebook. The Chinese giant has gained a huge market share in the world and is "threatening" Facebook with a range of unique features that not all social networks have.

3. Twitter social network

Twitter is probably the social network with the most authentic sources of information used by the majority of Presidents, Politicians, Directors, CEOs . If you pay attention, you will see stories like: Donald Trump shared his status on Twitter, Elon Musk just updated the company roadmap on Twitter . We can see that Twitter works. act as a communication channel, speech channel of famous people and including individual users.

4. Instagram social network

Instagram is a small branch with the same manufacturer as Facebook, these two platforms work in parallel and can be linked together. Unlike Facebook, you can post everything, Instagram is just a place for you to share photos! However, Instagram is a tool used by a wide range of celebrities and because of that, they have attracted a large number of users quickly.

5. Chinese social network - Weibo

There is a special thing that you will not be able to access other social networks except Weibo in China, the country's policy is completely different and they prioritize the development of homegrown social networks. . Weibo is the main social network in China and with such a large population in the home country has helped Weibo gain a large number of users. Although it is a social network developed exclusively for China, you can still use it normally!

6. Video sharing social network - Youtube

Certainly all of us have used YouTube and even used more. Youtube is currently the largest video sharing social network in the world and no social network is enough to threaten Youtube. Backed by Google and well ahead of other social networks, YouTube has stabilized and grown much stronger than other competitors.

7. Reddit social network

Reddit is a diverse and interesting social network when they share their stories up there and people can come in and have fun. Not stopping there, Reddit also operates the Q&A method on them, which can also be considered as an encyclopedia with millions of different interesting content.

Sometimes, when you are looking for a fix, a difficult question, you will easily find answers from Reddit.

8. Social network Pinterest

When you search for something, you will definitely see a lot of content displayed from Pinterest. Pinterest has a completely different method from other social networks, they completely revolve around sharing images and posting images from different sources. If you want to search for images, you can choose Pinterest to exploit "huge" image data.

9. Tumblr social network

Tumblr is also developed like other social networks, but the life of this social network is much more ups and downs when it is constantly "changed owners". Because of the problem of being acquired by others, Tumblr has been changed too much and lost a large number of users in a while. To date Tumblr has become more stable and has a clear market expansion plan.

10. Snapchat social network

Snapchat is the first entertainment social network to post the first Story 24h in the world and now many other social networks "learn" Snapchat's Story 24h. Besides being a social network, Snapchat is known as a photography software with many beautiful and creative filters.

In this article, Software Tips have sent to you the Top 10 most popular social networks today. Have a nice day!

You finished reading the article "Top 10 most popular social networks today" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.