

Top 11 reasons why we are getting a little bit more

If after a few years there are still few friends, see if you yourself have 11 reasons why your day is gone.

1. 3 types of friends you should have in your life

There are billions of reasons why you go a little bit. Finding and preserving a good friendship in adulthood is no longer as simple and easy as the time of "barefoot" anymore. Because at the age of adulthood, people have many things to worry about, think and sometimes don't have time for themselves or anyone else. Everything takes time and so is friendship. However, time alone is not enough, friendship requires sincerity and mutual concern. If after a few years there are still few friends, see if you yourself have 11 reasons why your day is gone.

1. Too much complaint

If you are a person who complains about your current job, lacks money or blames unfair life, no one will want to take the time to care about you. Complaining will make you grow old. Try to build a more positive attitude and look for interesting topics to talk about, rather than just sitting there and talking about the injustice that has happened to you.

2. Abandoning friends when having an emotional relationship

If you abandon your friends when you start dating a new person, your friends probably won't sit back and listen to your story when the relationship breaks. Instead, they will leave you. It is not easy to find a balance between spending time with close friends and taking care of your new love relationship, but try to balance them! Don't just leave it for a new person who has lost a close and beautiful friendship for a long time.

3. Selfish

Consider whether selfishness is one of the biggest causes of not having many friends. Friendship requires giving away, knowing for other people even if you don't like to do it. If you are only willing to do what you want, it is unlikely that your friends will tolerate it for long.

1. 7 ways to practice unconditional love you need to know

4. Not interested in friends

If you're not interested in what's happening in your friend's life, that friend probably won't hold you next to them. In friendship, it is also important that you show them the concern about what they are doing. Being friends, especially close friends without caring, asking your friends or their feelings is sad.

5. Making things complicated

If you are a person who often causes trouble, many people will probably try to avoid you so you don't have to be involved. If you blame others, not keep them secret and intentionally provoke people, you will have trouble convincing people why they should interfere with your business.

6. Small and small calculations

The calculation of li will not have room for true friendship. If you try to calculate everything too detailed, friends will say " goodbye " to you. Get ready to give, cultivate the relationship rather than just having to make everything a bit fairer.

7. Or envy

If you feel jealous when your friend buys a new car, gets promoted or starts a new love relationship, this will lead to many problems. If you are close friends, you should celebrate with your friends and feel happy for their success instead of feeling jealous of them. If you are someone who always feels jealous of others, your attitude will show up right away, even if you try to hide it.

8. Expect too much from friends

If you always expect your friends to always be with you or appear whenever you need it, you will definitely feel disappointed. Sometimes your friends will feel hurt and disappointed about you at any time. However, that does not mean they are not good people or you should not maintain friendships with them. Learn to forgive when your emotions are hurt.

9. "Gossip"

If you don't stop gossiping or buoying rumors, people will realize that you can be the one talking about them. Don't speak ill of others or spread rumors, let people see that you can be trusted because you respect their privacy.

1. 8 types of people you should avoid as far as possible

10. Or bully friends

For many people, bullying friends doesn't just happen at school. If you keep your face as if your " boss " is around you and asking for things from others, no one will want to play with you. This will be okay for some people, but make sure you don't go over the limit and know how to behave in the right way. Respect the rights of others and develop relationships in a healthy way.

11. Do not communicate much

The shortcomings of each of our personalities are not the only things that make you "lonely", sometimes it's just because you don't communicate with many people. Or maybe you haven't had a chance to meet the people you love? If it is for this reason, create an opportunity to meet other people based on your interests and activities. Always willing to take the opportunity to impress when talking to a stranger, then you know and they can have a long-term friendship.

Anything needs to have interaction from both sides, you want to have friends, want to be interested, then take those things for those around you first. Once you show sincerity and think for others, you're definitely not alone in this world.

Refer to some more articles:

1. Differences in women's lives before and after the age of 30
2. 10 ways to make a good impression right from the first meeting
3. Try these 13 psychological tricks to easily communicate with people

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "Top 11 reasons why we are getting a little bit more" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.