The second name mentioned in this list is SoundHound, an application that competes directly with Shazam. Just click the orange button at the main interface of the software, you can identify the right song title, the song recognition speed of the software is very fast and accurate. Even if you can hum your own words and the software can identify them well, it's a great feature that not all apps have. And of course SoundHound also features music playback and lyrics viewing in the application, which is very convenient for those who are passionate about singing.

3. Musixmatch application

Download link for iOS: <https://itunes.apple.com/vn/app/musixmatch-lyrics-finder/id448278467>

Another great name that you cannot ignore is the Musixmatch app. This is a specialized application that provides us with the largest collection of lyrics in the world, even the lyrics have been translated into more than 60 different languages. But what is remarkable here is its ability to identify songs very well. Musixmatch can accurately identify songs in the environment with a lot of noise and at a distance, the ability to identify Vietnamese music is very good even when new songs are released, it can still identify. This is something that the two applications above do not do. A pretty cool feature of it is that after identifying the song, the lyrics of that song will appear immediately and run to match the lyrics of the current song. It can be said that this is an indispensable application for music enthusiasts, so what are you waiting without downloading and experiencing.
