

Top 5 best gaming monitors 2020

Top 5 best gaming monitors for gamers can not be ignored with many reasonable prices. You can consult to choose to buy products that suit your needs.

If you are looking for a gaming monitor to complete the PC for your gaming needs. Top of these monitors have prices ranging from low, medium to high end. TipsMake will help you choose the right monitor for your needs as well as economic conditions.

1. Dell SE2417HG 24inch Full HD Gaming Monitor

The Dell SE2417HG Gaming Monitor with TN panel has a refresh rate of up to 76Hz. With a response speed of only 2ms. Modern ultra-thin screen design is quite beautiful.

Full HD resolution for the most vivid and realistic picture for users to immerse in the playing atmosphere while playing. The monitor is also equipped with various ports such as dual HDMI and VGA. Users comfortably connect the projector to a larger screen.

2. LG 24MP59G-P 24 inch Full HD gaming monitor

LG 24MP59G-P gaming monitor measures 24 inches. With full HD resolution and 75Hz refresh rate, 5ms response speed. The screen brings a lot of very good visual experiences to the user.

Besides, it is also equipped with many other technologies such as Motion Blur Reduction, AMD Freesync, . Limit image noise and increase the quality of the most realistic image reflection.

Especially the Dynamic Action Sync feature helps to process images at high speed. Delivers the smoothest visual experience. The plus point of this monitor is that there are many professional game modes such as FPS Game, FPS Game 2, RTS Game and Custom Game.

3. ASUS ROG SWIFT PG279Q gaming monitor

The 27-inch 1440p screen is quite expensive, but it is well worth the price tag. The product is equipped with one of the best panels for gaming: AU Optronics Advanced Hyper Viewing Angle (AHVA).

Therefore, the picture quality of this monitor is something you can rest assured when buying. Extremely impressive sharpness, color, and contrast deliver the best visual experiences.

The screen bezel is also quite thin, with high scanning frequency. Not stopping there, the monitor also supports G-Sync technology. So when using the screen you will not need to worry about the image is noisy or torn.

4. ASUS ROG STRIX XG32VQR monitor best supports Freesync

The gaming monitor measures up to 32 inches with 1800R curvature - considered one of the best Freesync capable monitors. The screen uses a VA panel and the ability to contrast a large amount of light and dark, combined with a resolution of 1440p. Its refresh rate is up to 144Hz, 94% DCI-P3 color coverage and HDR content rendering for vivid images that serve the best of gamers.

5. BENQ GW2270H Gaming Monitor with Low Price

With prices ranging from 150 USB only, the BENQ GW2270H monitor is suitable for gamers with low economy. Although cheap, but still equipped with VA panel with 1080p resolution. The pixel density is on par with that of the 27 '1440p screen. So in general, this product is also quite worthy to experience for gamers.

Above are the top 5 gaming monitors that are quite popular with many different prices.

You finished reading the article "Top 5 best gaming monitors 2020" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.