HACOM would like to share how to choose the best online meeting line and microphone for the highest quality meeting room on the Vietnamese market today.

In every online meeting today, sound plays an important role in connecting people, increasing the presence of those in the meeting. Online meeting microphones, also known as conference call speakerphones, are devices that help people in the meeting easily communicate, chat easily, using microphones and speakers. Choosing a good microphone plays an important role in connecting all meeting members and increasing the quality of the meeting. TipsMake will guide you on how to choose as well as the top lines of the best online meeting microphones in this article.

1. Instructions for choosing an online meeting microphone

TipsMake will guide you through the criteria for evaluating and choosing the best online meeting microphone so you can consider and evaluate before choosing to "spend money", you can refer to:

a. About the sound quality of the Microphone

Most microphones in general must meet the requirements of clear sound when used. In addition, some microphones also transmit the speaker's clear and sharp sound. Therefore, you need to carefully check the sound of the microphone before deciding to buy.

b. Easy connection of devices

Usually, online meeting microphones use USB connection ports. Some mid-range and high-end models connect via Bluetooth to connect the signal to the receiver - computer. You should consider choosing devices with the necessary connections and according to your needs to be able to use them optimally.

c. Speaker sensitivity

This is also an important factor, because the sensitivity of the speaker membrane will help you filter and eliminate noise best. Besides, you need to pay attention when the sound is transmitted accurately and stably in any space.

d. No signal loss, seamless connection

The online meeting microphone must ensure seamless connection and avoid interruptions in every meeting and conference. In addition to the average signal transmission, it must ensure signal stability. So, if you have to pick up something or move to another location, you can still chat easily based on your conference speaker as long as your device is always connected to the Internet.
