For shooters like Free Fire, the weapon is one of the decisive factors to the player's strength and, in particular, to maximize the ability of the weapon you need to understand about it.

In the game Garena Free Fire too, you have chosen the most powerful gun for your fighting style? There are 5 basic types of guns in Free Fire including: Pistol, shotgun, submachine gun, rifle and sniper rifle. In these guns there are countless guns with different properties. Here are the guns that are ranked as the strongest and most effectively used in the game.

5. MP40

Up to the present time, the MP40 is still the weapon with the highest rate of fire in Garena Free Fire, and this strength is more than enough to compensate for the other weaknesses of this submachine. The MP40 is considered an extremely intimidating weapon in close combat. With super fast projectile speed, you can send off opponents in a flash.

As mentioned above, the MP40 has only the strong point of firing speed but there are quite a few weaknesses. It is low damage, low accuracy and less ability to customize accessories when it is impossible to add any kind of scopes or auxiliary accessories other than the magazine.

Although not as powerful as it was in its early days, the MP40 is still an extremely reputable choice to carry alongside another rifle or sniper rifle.

4. M1887

This 2-shot shotgun is currently the highest-damage gun in the game: 100. For players who have mastered it, with only 1 to at most 2 accurate bullets, the target can be sent off. the match is always. This is not to mention that M1887 is one of the few guns with X-Armor stat in Garena Free Fire.

Of course, a gun with such a strong power must have weaknesses (to balance the game a bit). With the M1887, the most noticeable weakness is that it only has . 2 bullets in one charge - if you miss one, it's a bit difficult to finish the target completely. Along with that, the range of the M1887 is also quite short, so it is only suitable for the fighting phase in the last rounds.

3. Grenades

After being changed to the throwing mechanism from OB24 version, Grenade is now very popular. It can do extensive damage like the explosive M79, but is easier to find on the map. With just a few precision grenades you can blow a person up to a squad.

Strong then comes with certain risks. Many of you do not count 3 seconds before a grenade explodes can 'fly color' when holding it for too long. Along with that, the alignment to throw grenades is not easy, especially for those who just started playing Garena Free Fire.

2. AK

This is the type of rifle that most shooting games in the world are on the list of weapons, and AK is also particularly familiar to Vietnamese. AK is a lethal weapon in the automatic rifle line, along with a high range - only lost to M4A1 and Groza (excluding semi-automatic rifles and sniper rifles, of course) .

Accompanying high damage, AK is also a gun with a great recoil. AK users need to have quite a high technique. If they don't keep drying, the bullets just run out and the opponent will not suffer any damage.

In addition, the AK can carry a full range of accessories such as silencers, handles, extra cartridges or scopes that help a lot of players. AK can do a good job at most combat ranges, but of course if shooting each other long range then need a new x4 scopes to be okay.

1. M82B

As you know, the M82B is the closest sniper rifle appeared in Garena Free Fire and it is really scary. The special feature that shoots through the wall of ice and increases damage when shooting on vehicles does indeed make the M82B more sought after than other sniper rifles, including the 'king' of AWM.

In addition, the M82B also has a magazine of up to 8 bullets, 3 larger than the Kar98 or AWM. The M82B's ammunition is also said to be stronger with a X Xuyen stat of 67 - something the other two snipers do not possess

Indeed, if Free Fire does not have an impressive stat boost or sniper update in the near future, the M82B will still dominate for a long time, especially with its new gun skins added.
