Top of the strongest generals on the road

Riven

Not only is Riven floating in the forest area, thanks to the Super Conqueror jewel, she is becoming a very strong card emerging from the upper position.

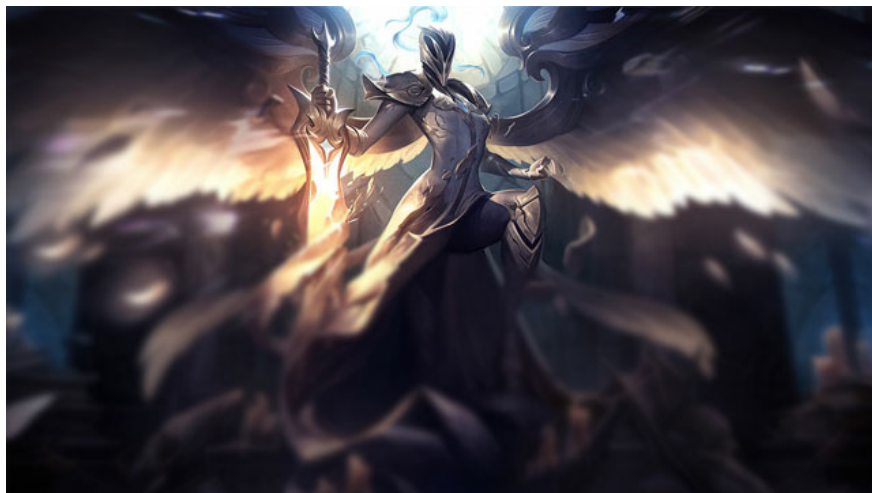

With the use of the three sets of Riven, it is easy to get 5 points Conquering to make yourself more large attack damage. A lot more absorbent. Riven's entrance is not much changed, still familiar items such as Youmuu Ghost Sword, Black Ax .

Heracim

Thanks to the changes in version 9.6, the general regained his position in the upper lane when he increased the pick and win rate to rise to this position. All thanks to the skill Q when there is more damage when hitting the enemy plus giving me Conquest, Heracim is now quite strong in the exchange phase, especially when there are Tam Hop Kiem.

Kayle

In version 9.6, although it had a little effect on editing power like reducing the attack speed as well as Kayle's damage, it did not seem to affect much when she was still achieving a scaled figure. extremely high, about 54.29% according to OP.GG's assessment.

On the jewel board, Kayle is currently aiming a lot with the thief to get more gold needed later - to use E repeatedly to structure the enemy's blood and earn gold from the Dao and of course Max E first. However, in some difficult competitions, you should use the Immortal Power or Quick Step to make the first stage more rigid.

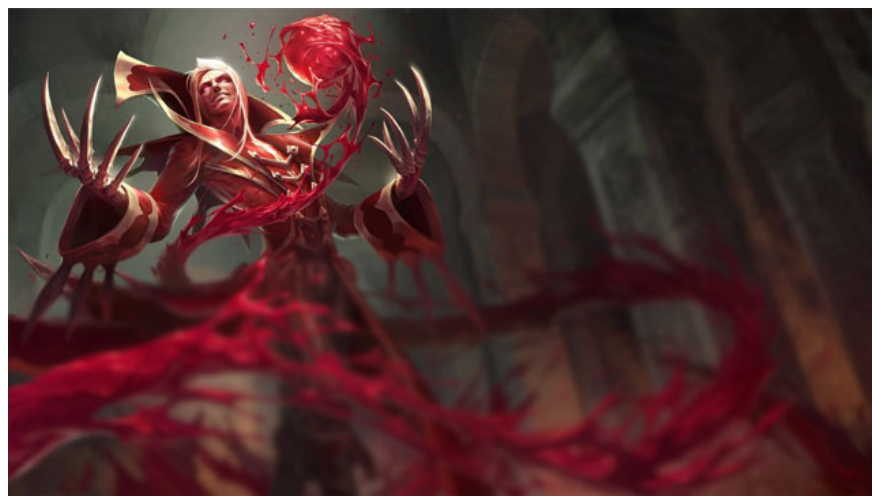

Sylas

Sylas could say that it was too much for Riot to have his power a bit, the reduction of Sylas' power had caused this general to drop 1 rank on the road chart on League of Legends.

With the reduced healing skill W made the turn-backs of Sylas's surprise enemies somewhat weaker than before, the more difficult it was for the opponent to take up the healing equipment. then he won't have any advantages. However, the amount of Sylas damage caused was not impaired, he still caused discomfort to the halfway entrance to endure half of his damage or even Full AP.

Vladimir

Finally the bloodthirsty general Vladimir, with a slow, no-hurry style. Bloodthirsty people always know how to stand in Meta. There are not too many changes compared to the Red Death God, still a play and a familiar way of dressing up.

Just concentrate on the road and Farm equips to dispatch the rampage items to increase the damage, then destroy the enemy in total battle phases.

These are some of the most rated generals in the top position, if you love the style of play in this position. Please pick one of the generals above to see if Quantrimang is right.
