Hidden cameras use electricity

This type of hidden camera uses full power and can record continuously. The biggest drawback is that the installation is limited because it needs a power supply.

1. KAPOSEV Spy Camera Wireless Phone Charger (1.6 million VND)

Some smartphone users may have wireless chargers. And this makes KAPOSEV Spy Camera Wireless Phone Charger the perfect choice to hide in the house and perform surveillance tasks.

This hidden camera allows users to remotely check with the mobile application and can quickly record videos or take photos. Even when not watching live, the camera can send notifications when it senses movement and automatically takes photos.

Although the camera doesn't include a memory card, you can use a 128GB microSD card to record videos with a 24-hour loop. The integrated night version allows users to monitor the house even in the dark. You can also charge Qi-enabled phones vertically or horizontally.

2. WEMLB Alarm Clock Hidden Camera (1.4 million VND)

WEMLB's Alarm Clock Hidden Camera includes a camouflage camera with night mode, which can be clearly viewed from a distance of 15 feet. If motion is detected, you will receive a notification on your phone via the app or even email.

The camera can record Full HD 1080 videos and the manufacturer offers 16GB microSD memory card. You can expand the memory with your card up to 128GB for more recording.

3. SPOOKER USB Phone Adapter Camera (nearly 1 million VND)

SPOOKER USB Phone Adapter Camera has a 1080p camera that can monitor what is happening in your house. Because it's plugged into a power outlet, there's no need to worry about the power. To use this hidden camera, connect it to a Wifi network and watch live video streaming through the smartphone app.

The camera also sends notifications when it detects motion and records videos on a microSD card. If you do not want or need to connect the camera to a Wifi network, it still records videos to a memory card and can be viewed on the phone app.

4. Maximus Security Camera and Outdoor Light (over VND 5 million)

This Kuna Maximus Security Camera and Outdoor Light comes in different colors and designs to suit your home space. Camera Maximus is more discreet than the hidden cameras in the list but is equally powerful. You need to place this camouflage camera in a place where there is wiring and installation takes only 15 minutes.

With the built-in motion sensor, you will receive instant notifications sent to your phone and can watch live and listen to videos on the app. If needed, you can communicate with people within a certain range, send pre-recorded voice messages or activate the 110 decibel alarm. Also you can control the light with Amazon Alexa.

Hidden cameras use batteries

Perhaps hidden cameras that use batteries are the most common types of hidden cameras. Although you can put it anywhere, the downside is that it needs charging and replacement when they fail.

5. FUVISION Hidden Camera Wi-Fi Photo Frame (2.3 million USD)

FUVISION Hidden Camera Wi-Fi Photo Frame has a small hidden 720p camera inside with a 15-degree angle down. When using at night, you will not see red light from this camera. Therefore this is the perfect choice to place anywhere like on the wall or on the table because they are like a normal photo frame.

The system has a built-in DVR that can record short videos of motion up to 60 seconds on a microSD memory card. You can view videos with the phone application or in photo albums.

6. ZXWDDP Wi-Fi Smoke Detector Camera (1.3 million VND)

Fire detectors are a familiar household item. And instead of a fire alarm, ZXWDDP Wi-Fi Smoke Detector Camera has a built-in 1080p camera. This camouflage camera can record videos in the night, send notifications to the phone when motion is detected. You can watch live using the app or record videos on a microSD card up to 128GB.

The battery of this hidden camera can record videos of up to 4 hours on a single charge. If there is a circuit on the ceiling, the camera battery can receive continuous energy. Before installing this hidden camera indoors, you need to remember this is only a camera disguised as a fire alarm. So to protect your home from fire, you need to buy a real fire alarm.
