

Top 7 Webcam software for Windows 10, 11

If you are someone who often uses webcams for online meetings or stream games on Youtube, Twitch, etc., you will need a 'genuine' webcam software.

In this article, TipsMake will introduce to you the best Webcam software available today.

1. Logitech Capture

Logitech not only makes webcams, it also develops great webcam software. Logitech Capture software includes important functions that let you capture, edit, and customize your videos with ease.

The software allows you to apply transitions, filters, and borders to highlight your images. In addition, there are some editing features such as removing background, adding light rays, etc. You can also use Logitech Capture to record vertical videos, suitable for viewers on mobile phones. The use of 2 webcams is also very well supported, without any difficulties.

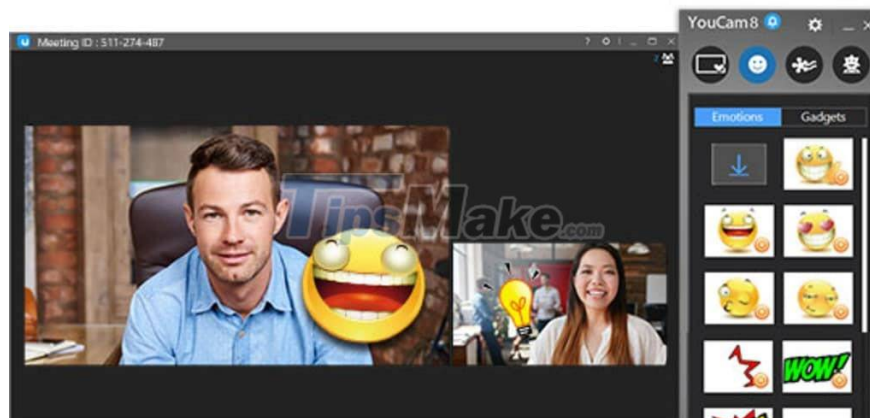

2. ManyCam

ManyCam is an attractive webcam application that gives you some great video editing features. It allows you to add effects like emojis, transitions and backgrounds while streaming or recording your images. The software also offers picture-in-picture mode and YouTube integration, helping you connect faster.

Video recording quality can be in a variety of resolutions – from 240p to full-HD. Supported formats include MP4, FLV and MKV. In addition ManyCam also comes with noise cancellation and allows you to adjust audio bitrate values between 96-192kbps.

3. YouCam

YouCam offers an intuitive user interface that is much easier to use than other software. The software offers an impressive array of editing and effects tools such as filters, emojis, shutter speed adjustments and lens focus shifters.

To make things more interesting, it comes with AR stickers and live animations to put the spotlight on your videos. YouCam records your videos in WMV, AVI and MP4 file formats, from 240p to Full HD resolution.

4. SparkoCam Virtual Webcam

SparkoCam is especially suitable when you use a green background in the background, it makes it easy to customize your background. SparkoCam also provides attractive effects, graphics and animations for your live video calls.

This application can integrate with calling applications such as Zoom and Skype.

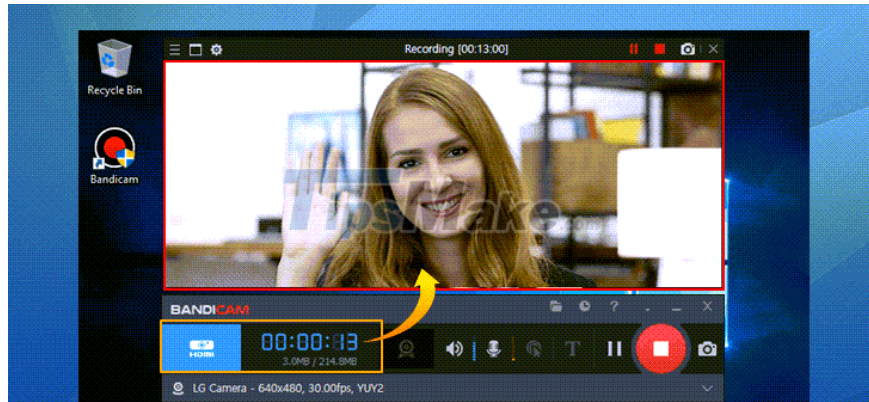

5. IP Camera Viewer

In addition to video calling and streaming purposes, IP Camera Viewer also supports remarkable surveillance features. You can use your PC's webcam to replace a security camera, helping to monitor and protect your home. Sounds great doesn't it?

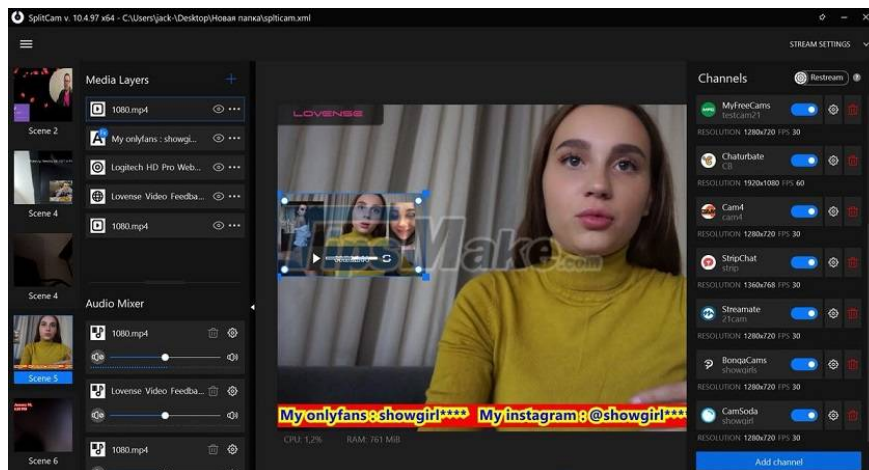

This software supports more than 2000 different types of IP cameras and allows you to edit videos easily. Use the software to change the orientation, frame rate and coverage of all IP cameras. The special feature is that you can zoom in on the frame even if your camera does not have a zoom function.

6. Bandicam

Bandicam is a software that is quite familiar to most users who want to record their computer screen while playing games. Moreover, this software also has some camera related features. Bandicam is excellent at cutting, editing, merging and enhancing your videos. But the best feature is the ability to record highly compressed videos, with outstanding quality.

7. SplitCam

SplitCam is an easy-to-use software suitable for webcam live streaming. This tool gives you a variety of video and audio effects when participating in an online call. You can use SplitCam to add 3D elements, text, and frames to your videos. Editing features include crop, rotate, flip and reverse images.
