TOP of the best free survival games, Survival Games was and still is in its heyday, with a huge number of battle royale games of various variations being released.

Even if you're new to the survival genre, wondering where to start; Or a pro gamer, looking for something new, let's explore the following list of the best, completely free survival games.

List Best free survival game

Call of Duty: Warzone

In a small team, the player must battle 150 other players as gas collects around them. Collect loot on the ground, save money on items like gas masks, and hop on vehicles to give yourself a vantage point.

Call of Duty: Warzone continues to develop with new maps and modes, promising to bring more exciting content for gamers in the future.

Apex Legends

Apex Legends is developed by the team behind the excellent products Titanfall and Star Wars Jedi: Fallen Order. In fact, Apex Legends takes place in the same universe as before.

At the start of each game, everyone chooses the character they want to play, each with different abilities and fun personalities. Then, in teams of two or members, gamers land on an island and fight to be the last survivor.

Apex Legends is unique because it invests heavily in building an interesting story, yet successfully combines that with action and engaging gameplay.

Fortnite

Fortnite is an amazingly successful survival game for developer Epic Games, with billions of dollars in revenue. There's a reason for that: Fortnite is fun to play.

Fortnite is always developing content about maps, gameplay mechanics, weapons and characters, making gamers never lose interest in it.

This is the only survival game where gamers can attend Ariana Grande's concert, outfit Spider-Man and then battle hundreds of other players.

PUBG: Battlegrounds

The most popular and popular survival game will definitely call PUBG. It is designed as a tactical, grounded experience where gamers must loot and fight to be the last man alive.

Not only has the unique gameplay, but this game is also a top-notch graphic work. It's definitely fun, although you can see it's basic when compared to the more epic, often updated battles from other studios.

Spellbreak

While many battle royale games get serious and dull, Spellbreak is quite the opposite. It's a colorful and captivating game that allows anyone to master elemental magic, using it to take down other players.

Gamers will choose an elemental class (such as fire or ice), and then announce which magic spells everyone has. There are also special abilities acquired through runes, hidden in magical chests, such as teleportation, invisibility, and time control.

Spellbreak is quite similar to The Legend of Zelda: Breath of the Wild, so players will have a great time exploring the fantasy world and mastering magic.

Hyper Scape

Hyper Scape defines itself as an urban survival game. The fighting scene takes place on the streets and rooftops, players need to constantly scale buildings when participating in thrilling chases.

No playthrough is the same as players need to tap into their abilities and adapt to a random map.

When destroyed, everyone will not leave the game but become an Echo to ping important things to their teammates. When killing other players, they gain respawn points, which can be used to revive them.

Darwin Project

Darwin Project takes place in the Rocky Mountains of Northern Canada, in a chaotic world. As the Ice Age looms, 10 players must survive the cold and fight each other.

Darwin Project has a unique twist: every game can be affected by a Show Director, who uses bombs, area closures, gravity storms and more to control the playing field.
