1. The Flash Video Downloader

1. Download The Flash Video Downloader utility.

With poor file quality and dropped connections, downloading videos from the internet can be a frustrating experience. Make things a little easier with a program like Flash Video Downloader, an effortless application that helps you retrieve videos from many video websites on the internet.

Flash Video Downloader, as the name suggests, will download flash videos from websites supported by this tool. It works with just one click – you open the video from within your built-in browser, click the large Download button on the toolbar, and the file will download instantly. The interface is very simple and easy to use.

When you install the extension and open a video streaming website, it will display the number of videos detected. Simply click the download icon to download the video or click the link icon to get the video URL. If the extension detects multiple videos, you can click Download All to download them all at once.

Users can play videos directly within the extension interface, along with the option to play videos in a thumbnail frame in the corner of the Chrome screen. This feature is similar to the thumbnail video viewing feature on YouTube or playing videos from a floating screen on Opera .

There are no configuration options for Flash Video Downloader. This makes things simpler but can be frustrating for users who prefer more control.

The lack of configuration options also means users cannot modify the supported websites of Flash Video Downloader. Because some adult video websites are included in the Video Website list, this makes the application unsuitable for certain users. Flash Video Downloader also experiences issues downloading from some of the listed websites, and when you download from within the program, you cannot utilize any download accelerators you may have installed. This means some users will find download speeds somewhat slow.

Above are 10 of the best Chrome video download extensions currently available. All extensions are completely free and do not require an account to download videos. Some applications also offer options to download videos in specific quality and format if the user needs them.
