

Top most powerful Android smartphones today

AnTuTu's smartphone performance rankings for January 2025 have been officially announced with the impressive return of MediaTek's Dimensity 9400.

According to the latest AnTuTu rankings, the Vivo X200 Pro Satellite Edition powered by the Dimensity 9400 chip took the top spot with an average score of 2,896,624, surpassing the Snapdragon 8 Elite, which has been dominating recently.

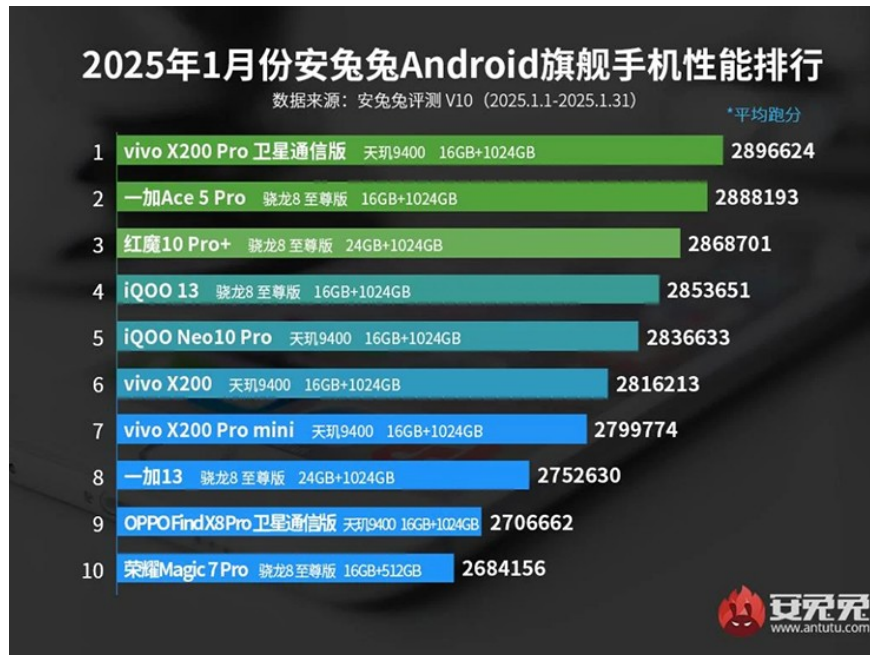

Vivo X200 Pro Satellite Edition is the king on AnTuTu in January 2025.

Following is the OnePlus Ace 5 Pro using the Snapdragon 8 Elite chip with a score of 2,888,193, just a very small gap behind the leading product. Notably, the Red Magic 10 Pro+, which was the highest-performing Android smartphone in December 2024, has dropped to third place with 2,868,701 points.

Here is the list of top 10 smartphones according to AnTuTu in January 2025:

1. Vivo X200 Pro Satellite Edition (Dimensity 9400) – 2,896,624 points.
2. OnePlus Ace 5 Pro (Snapdragon 8 Elite) – 2,888,193 points.
3. Red Magic 10 Pro+ (Snapdragon 8 Elite) – 2,868,701 points.
4. iQOO 13 (Snapdragon 8 Elite) – 2,853,651 points.

5. iQOO Neo10 Pro (Dimensity 9400) – 2,836,633 points.
6. Vivo X200 (Dimensity 9400) – 2,816,213 points.
7. Vivo X200 Pro Mini (Dimensity 9400) – 2,799,774 points.
8. OnePlus 13 (Snapdragon 8 Elite) – 2,752,630 points.
9. Oppo Find X8 Pro Satellite Edition (Dimensity 9400) – 2,706,662 points.
10. Honor Magic 7 Pro (Snapdragon 8 Elite) – 2,684,156 points.

AnTuTu specific rankings.

AnTuTu's rankings are based on devices that complete at least 1,000 valid test runs per month. Hardware performance is evaluated through a series of tests on the CPU, GPU, memory, and storage, simulating real-world tasks to measure performance under a variety of conditions. However, it's important to note that AnTuTu scores don't reflect a phone's overall performance, as factors like display quality, camera capabilities, battery life, and software optimization aren't taken into account.

In other news, the upcoming Realme GT 7 Pro Racing Edition is expected to be a performance-focused version of the GT 7 Pro. The phone is said to have scored an impressive 3,063,313 on AnTuTu, but this score may just be an ideal result under optimal conditions and the actual performance may be on par with devices like the OnePlus Ace 5 Pro.

You finished reading the article "Top most powerful Android smartphones today" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

