

Toshiba style laptop standalone

Toshiba auctioned off a laptop collection designed by four celebrities in the sports, art and music villages in the United States.

Toshiba auctioned off a laptop collection designed by four celebrities in the sports, art and music villages in the United States.

Four characters responsible for designing Toshiba laptop collections for auction include Hines Ward, Steel City's superstar rugby player, actor and director Rainn Wilson, rock musician and singer Joe Perry, and actor, screenwriter and producer Omar Epps.

Toshiba laptop collection is designed by 4 famous characters. (Photo: Engadget).

Hines Ward designed the Toshiba Laptop P505 18.4 inch entertainment laptop. Rain Wilson "painted" the Satellite M505. Rock-style Joe Perry complements the 18.4-inch Qosmio X505 gaming laptop. And Omar Epps "painted" on himself Satellite A505 Brooklyn Bridge in his hometown.

Image of 4 laptop models by the characters on the design.

Rainn Wilson's work.

Model designed by Hines Ward.

Joe Perry's design

Omar Epps' homeland bridge ".

According to Engadget, the official auction of these limited edition laptops will officially begin on November 27.

You finished reading the article "Toshiba style laptop standalone" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.