

True strange story: Hippopotamus and orphan rhino have wonderful friendship in the reserve

An unexpected friendship story found between two other species of animals surprised many people, admiring.

1. Strangely: The beaver becomes the "leader", leading 150 cows
2. Strange story: Tortoise attacks, doves pigeons in the blink of an eye!

An unexpected friendship story found between two other species of animals surprised many people, admiring.

Accordingly, a wildlife sanctuary in South Africa shared videos of unusual friendships that occurred between the two orphaned animals, a rhino and a small hippopotamus.

The video recorded in the Helping Rhinos reserve shows a 6-month-old rhino named Ntoto and a 18-month-old hippo named Charlie who rubbed his nose affectionately, filled with miraculous love.

At this sanctuary, both Ntoto and Charlie suddenly made friends and roam everywhere in the reserve.

Conservation center officials said Ntoto's mother had been killed by poachers, while Charlie was rescued after a severe drought that hippopotamus could not continue to protect and care. give me the death heat.

Watch video:

You finished reading the article "True strange story: Hippopotamus and orphan rhino have wonderful friendship in the reserve" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

