

Turn the cow into white bone for 15 minutes but the ferocious piranhas still have to be terrified of this creature

An eel discharge can cripple more than 30 piranhas at a distance of 1 meter.

The enemy that piranhas are the worst and also the reason they cannot become the hegemon of the vast Amazon river is the electric eel, also known as the electric eel. An eel discharge can cripple more than 30 piranhas at a distance of 1 meter.

1. Falling into the river, the stork was re-eaten by the piranhas in the blink of an eye
2. Piranhas, carnivorous fishes who easily bite off metal wires in a flash

Piranhas - also known as tiger fish mainly live in the vast Amazon river. Despite its small appearance of about 14 - 28 cm, piranhas possess sharp teeth, force to bite 3 times stronger than American crocodiles and extremely aggressive and bloodthirsty. They are ready to hunt, destroying prey larger than many times.

Only a little mistake happened to fall into the river, many animals living along the Amazon became white bones in the blink of an eye by fierce piranhas. A pack of piranhas can feed a cow after only 15 minutes.

Such frightening and dangerous but they are still not considered the hegemony of the river because they have a really strong enemy, which can cause them to be paralyzed in a flash. It is electric eel.

Although not 100% defeated in electric eel confrontations, piranhas are also very shy and immediately stay away when sniffing their enemies.

Eels share the same habitat with piranhas, but they are far superior in size when adults can be 2.5m long and weigh up to 20kg.

In addition, electric eels also have a special weapon to help them confidently confront the fiercely piranha fish that has a much larger amount of ability to discharge! They can discharge from 10 to 30 times with a voltage greater than 900V and make the prey paralyzed from a distance of 6m.

Electric eels are capable of extremely dangerous discharges.(Artwork: Internet.)

This is what piranha is most frightening at electric eels. With just one discharge, the eel can paralyze more than 30 piranhas at a distance of 1 meter. And in a dangerous situation, they can discharge more than 10 times. It is for this reason that even though piranhas are overwhelming in numbers, they may not be able to attack or oppose the enemy. When electrified, they will quickly become paralyzed. Their circumstances were very similar to the phrase "fish on the cutting board", despite the electric eel handling.

Even an adult crocodile attacking an electric eel must receive such an expensive price, what to say to the little piranhas.

You finished reading the article "Turn the cow into white bone for 15 minutes but the ferocious piranhas still have to be terrified of this creature" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.