Dell has just launched the Ultrabook Inspiron 15z model, which owns a 15.6-inch screen with a price of only 750 USD.

Dell has just launched the Ultrabook Inspiron 15z model, which owns a 15.6-inch screen with a price of only 750 USD.

Dell Inspiron 15z is designed quite similar to the "elder" Inspiron 14z and Inspiron 13z with aluminum frame, rounded corners soft, slightly thick and heavier than other Ultrabooks (weighing about 1.85 kg). However, the Dell Inspiron 15z has an additional DVD burner and touch screen option.

With a price of 750 USD, Dell Inspiron 15z includes Intel Core i3-3217M processor at 1.4GHz speed, 6GB RAM, Intel HD 4000 graphics, 500GB hard drive combined 32GB SSD.

An additional $ 50 (ie $ 800), users will have a version using Intel Core i5-3317U processor clocked at 1.7GHz with other similar parameters. If you want to shop the Dell Inspiron 15z touch screen with the same configuration as the 800 USD version, you need to spend an additional 100 USD (ie 900 USD).

In addition, users can also choose the Dell Inspiron 15z version for $ 1,000 with a touch screen, Intel Core i7-3517U processor with speed of 1.9GHz, NVIDIA GeForce GT630M 2GB discrete graphics card.
