

Use BlackBerry Passport for the first time

So is the Canadian mobile phone BlackBerry Passport event officially closed with interesting information. You can buy BlackBerry Passport in some countries around the world, here are some basic guidelines for new users of BlackBerry Passport as well as BB10 in general.

So is the Canadian mobile phone BlackBerry Passport event officially closed with interesting information. You can buy BlackBerry Passport in some countries around the world, here are some basic guidelines for new users of BlackBerry Passport as well as BB10 in general.

Step 1 - Insert the SIM card and memory card for your BlackBerry Passport.

Before inserting a sim card and memory card into the BlackBerry Passport you will need to prepare a nano sim card and a microSD card (BlackBerry Passport supports up to 128GB capacity card). You can then begin to install it on your device.

Notice that the top edge of the BlackBerry Passport will have a slot in the middle to help you open the lid. You will then use your hand to gently pull the lid toward your side so you can open it.

After opening the lid, you will see two sim icons and a memory card corresponding to the slot on the BlackBerry Passport . You just need to put the sim and memory card in the corresponding position to start using, note that you need to close the cover after installing the sim and memory card.

Step 2 - Complete the installation instructions

After installing sim and memory card you will need to complete some settings on BlackBerry Passport, as well as BlackBerry 10 devices in general. The installation wizard appears, this wizard will guide you to connect to a Wi-Fi network, set a new BB ID or log in to your current BlackBerry ID, as well as display some basic gestures of BB10.

Once completed, click Setup to proceed with the installation:

1. Add your email and social network accounts
2. Set up payment options for purchases made using BlackBerry World
3. Transfer data from your old phone (learn more in step 3)
4. Customize your device settings
5. Set device password

Step 3 - Transfer data from your old phone

You can use different devices before using the BlackBerry Passport, so check out some guidelines for transferring data from some smartphones to BB10 and BlackBerry Passport.

Note: If there are data that needs security, delete all on the old device after you have switched to BB10 device to succeed.

Step 4 - Set up your new device security and turn on BlackBerry Protect

After you install the phone, you should take a moment to set up the device password. Password settings can prevent unwanted access and secure your data in the phone. To set a password you can follow the steps as follows.

1. At the main screen of the Passport, swipe from the top edge of the screen and select Settings .
2. After selecting Settings, select Security and Privacy .
3. Select Device Password
 1. To set a device password including characters and numbers, turn on the Device Password section and then enter the password
 2. To set a quick device password including index, select Simple Password and then enter the password.
 3. Complete the password setting, you can turn on BlackBerry Protect function to find the location of BB10 device when lost.

Step 5 - Learn more

The easiest way to learn more about your BlackBerry Passport is to open the help application, which has lots of useful information from tips to usage tips. You can also view, or download the manual for your device by visiting <http://docs.blackberry.com> .

If you need further assistance, you can leave a question in the comment section below. Glad to support you, thank you!

You finished reading the article "Use BlackBerry Passport for the first time" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.