The dropdown menu for 'Life span' is open, showing options: 1 day, 2 days, 3 days, 4 days, 5 days, 6 days, 1 week, 2 weeks, 3 weeks, 1 month, 2 months*, 3 months*, 4 months*, 5 months*, 6 months*, and unlimited*. The option '1 month' is currently selected.

Choose whether you want to use the captcha system to filter incoming messages and whether you want to be notified at a real email address when your email address is used once.

Click the Create disposable email address button. A new screen will appear informing you that your account has been successfully created and summarizing the options you have selected.

Now you can use your one-time email address to sign up for downloading software and utilities without having to worry about getting more spam at your primary email address.

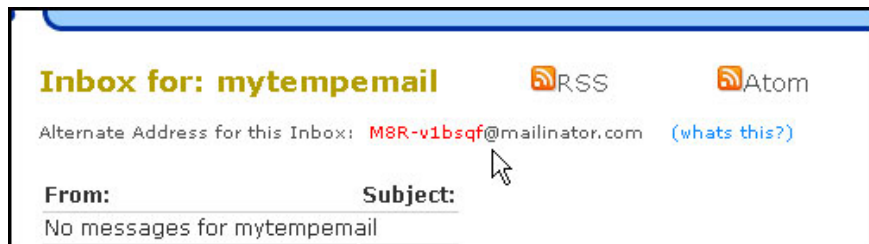

2. Mailinator

One of the top one-time-used email services is Mailinator. With this service, you can create your own email address as something@mailinator.com without having to sign up for the service.

To use this one-time email address, just at an email, use it on the site to register for download, and then go to <http://www.mailinator.com/> and Check your inbox by Enter the email address created in the text box. Note that you do not need to enter the domain (@ mailinator.com).

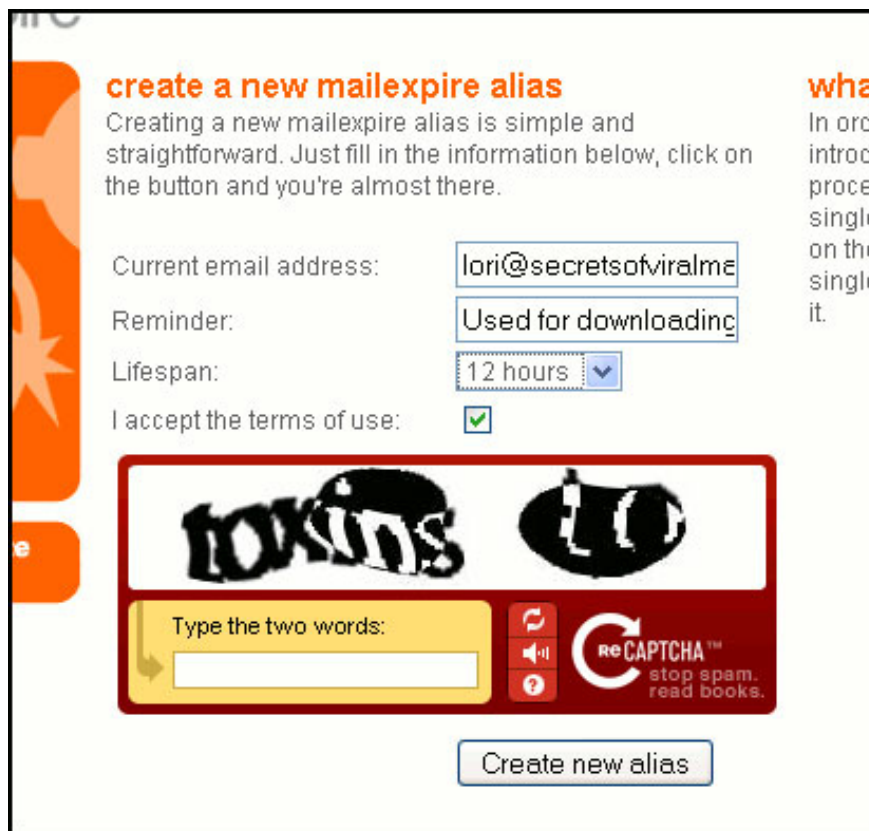

When broadcasting this email address, anyone can check your email by entering the email address on the site Mailinator. However, there is another inbox for each email address you create. When checking your inbox, you will see another inbox listed. Use this address to register for websites, download files, etc. This way, when someone sees that address, they cannot know what address to check at Mailinator to view your email.

3. Mailexpire

If you prefer to specify a period of time than specifying a certain number of times for email forwarding, you can use Mailexpire instead of Trashmail.net as mentioned above.

To create an email address for forwarding, you can go to <http://www.mailexpire.com/create.php>.

Specify your current email address in the Current email address section , this is the address you want the email to be forwarded.

You can enter the Reminder section to remember who you gave the address and why. This is very useful if you create a temporary email address for other purposes.

Choose Lifespan for the temporary email address. You can choose from 12 hours to 3 months.

You must select the check box next to 'I accept the terms of use' to create a temporary email address. You must also enter the anti-spam code to continue.

Click the Create new alias button to end the process. You can now use the temporary email address you created and receive emails in your real email account without having to send your email address.
