

Use the right brush when applying makeup

What you need to know to choose and use the correct function of a makeup brush

The powder brush is the largest, the head is trimmed round and regular to help the powder spread evenly on your skin, and the eyeshadow brush must be soft to avoid hurting the delicate skin of the eyelids. What you need to know to choose and use the correct function of a makeup brush.

Use the right brush when applying makeup first

Powder brush

Powder brush

The powder brush is the largest, the tip is rounded and regular to help the powder spread evenly on your skin. With this tool, you should choose the hair as soft as possible.

2

Concealer brush

Concealer brush

In order for concealer to work, focus on the point to be concealed, the concealer brush is made of artificial bristles, slightly stiff, the tip is usually slightly square.

3

Blush brush

Blush brush

You can use a powder brush, that is, a large, round tip, but it is best to choose a type that is beveled at the top to create more defined cheekbones.

4

Eyeshadow brush

Eyeshadow brush

Eyeshadow brush small, thin, slightly square shape. The bristles are stiffer than a powder brush or a little blush to blend the color exactly as you want, but still have to be soft enough to not hurt the skin of the eye area.

5

Lipstick brush

Lipstick brush

The lipstick brush has a small and tapered tip, usually made of nylon or artificial bristles, a bit stiff for you to control, and paints a precise and sharp lip contour.

Eyebrow brush

Eyebrow brush

The eyebrow brush has a diagonal flap. This is the hardest brush, helping to blend the brow powder clearly but still much more natural than direct pencil.

Powder brush

Powder brush

Powder brush to help you remove excess powder when finishing foundation, this brush is thin, spread out like a fan, very soft.

1. When buying a brush, you should choose trees that are trimmed evenly, the hairs are smooth, not lint or scratched to spread the powder evenly. Clean the brush regularly. With a genuine brush made of natural materials such as fur, it is recommended to use specialized washing water, or mix water with neutral shampoo.
2. In order for the brush head to not be deformed, it is recommended to insert the brush into the tube with the tip facing up.

You finished reading the article "Use the right brush when applying makeup" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.