Open "Other" message box

There are 2 types of message boxes on Facebook, which are normal messages from friends and the second is Other. Often people who are not on the list of friends when sending messages or sending strange links will be put in the Other section.

To view this message box, follow the instructions as shown below:

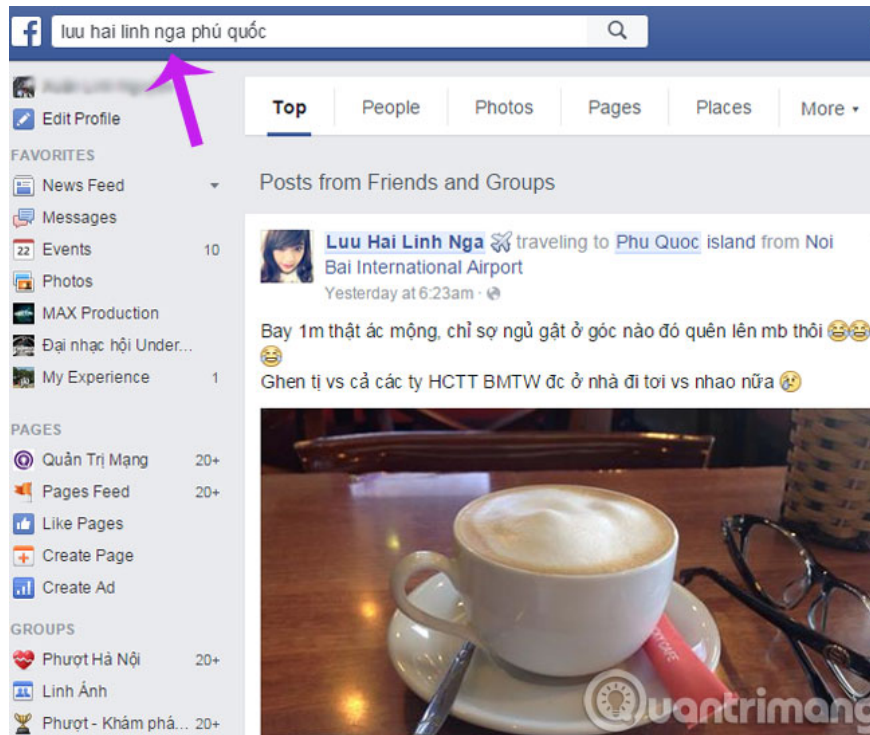

Find your friends' status with the search bar

Facebook's search bar has now improved a lot, besides it can help users find the status or posts previously shared by friends. Just type the name of the person you are looking for and a related word in status is able to retrieve the results quickly.

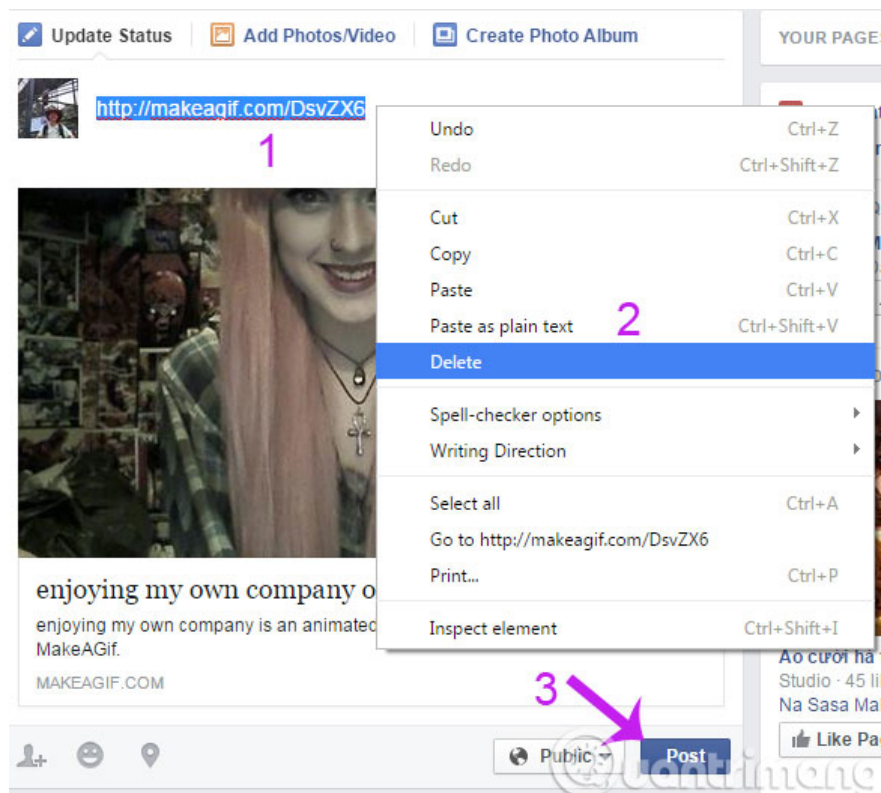

Besides, if you are traveling or want to know a place to consult and make sure someone on your friends list has gone and taken a shot, use Facebook Search to find out.

Post photos on Facebook

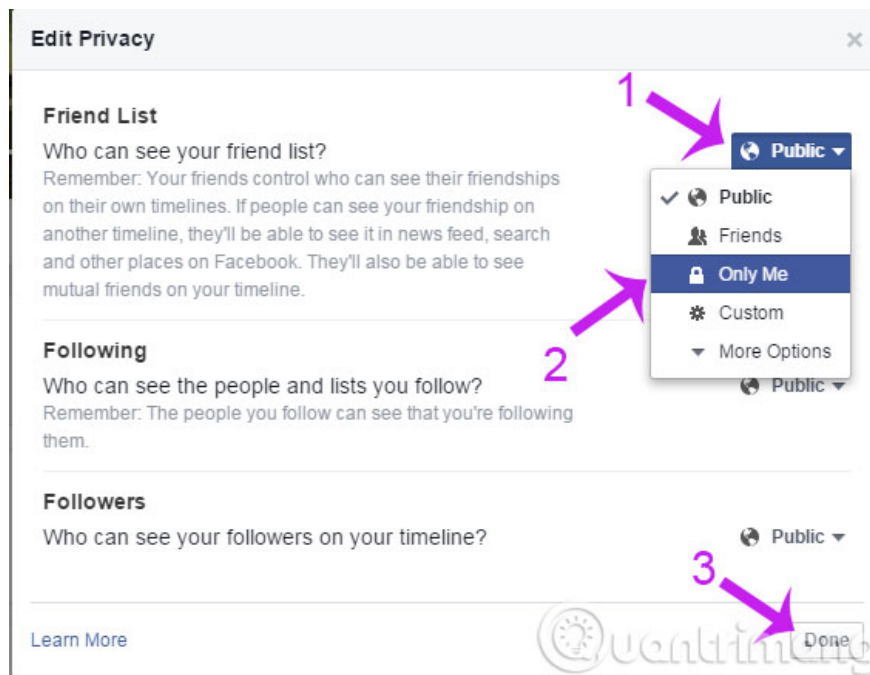

Facebook now allows users to post videos, just copy and paste the animation link (GIF format file) into the status box. Once the animation is displayed, delete the link and choose to post as a user with a status with funny animations.

Hide your Facebook friends list

Go to Friends on the personal page, right corner will have Edit Privacy , change Friend List section to Only Me .

Share a status but don't want to show some

For example, you want to go to Facebook to share a certain problem and don't want to let someone know. In the "Who should see this?" Frame, select Custom and enter that person's name in the "Don't share with" box

Wish you have a relaxing moment of the weekend!
