

Users will soon be able to download multiple applications at once on the Google Play Store

New Google adds a new feature on this app market that allows users to download multiple applications at the same time.

Google Play Store, the Android app market, has only ever downloaded 1 application at a time. To download many different applications on Google Play, users have to download each application one by one, which makes many users feel uncomfortable.

However, the new Google adds a new feature on this app market that allows users to download multiple applications at the same time. This new feature will be updated in the latest Play Store version.

Google added that this feature will be updated on each server cluster. Therefore, not all users can experience this feature at the same time.

Updates pending (8)
Auto-update is turned on

STOP

Redfin Real Estate
Installing...

Yelp: Food, Shopping, Services Nearby
10.84 MB/11.38 MB 95%

Maps Preview
Downloading...

SwiftKey Keyboard
4.87 MB/4.95 MB 98%

Playground (was AR Stickers)
Downloading...

Lemonade: Renters & Homeowners Insurance
Downloading...

Messenger – Text and Video Chat for Free
Downloading...

LinkedIn Job Search
Downloading...

Recently updated (33)

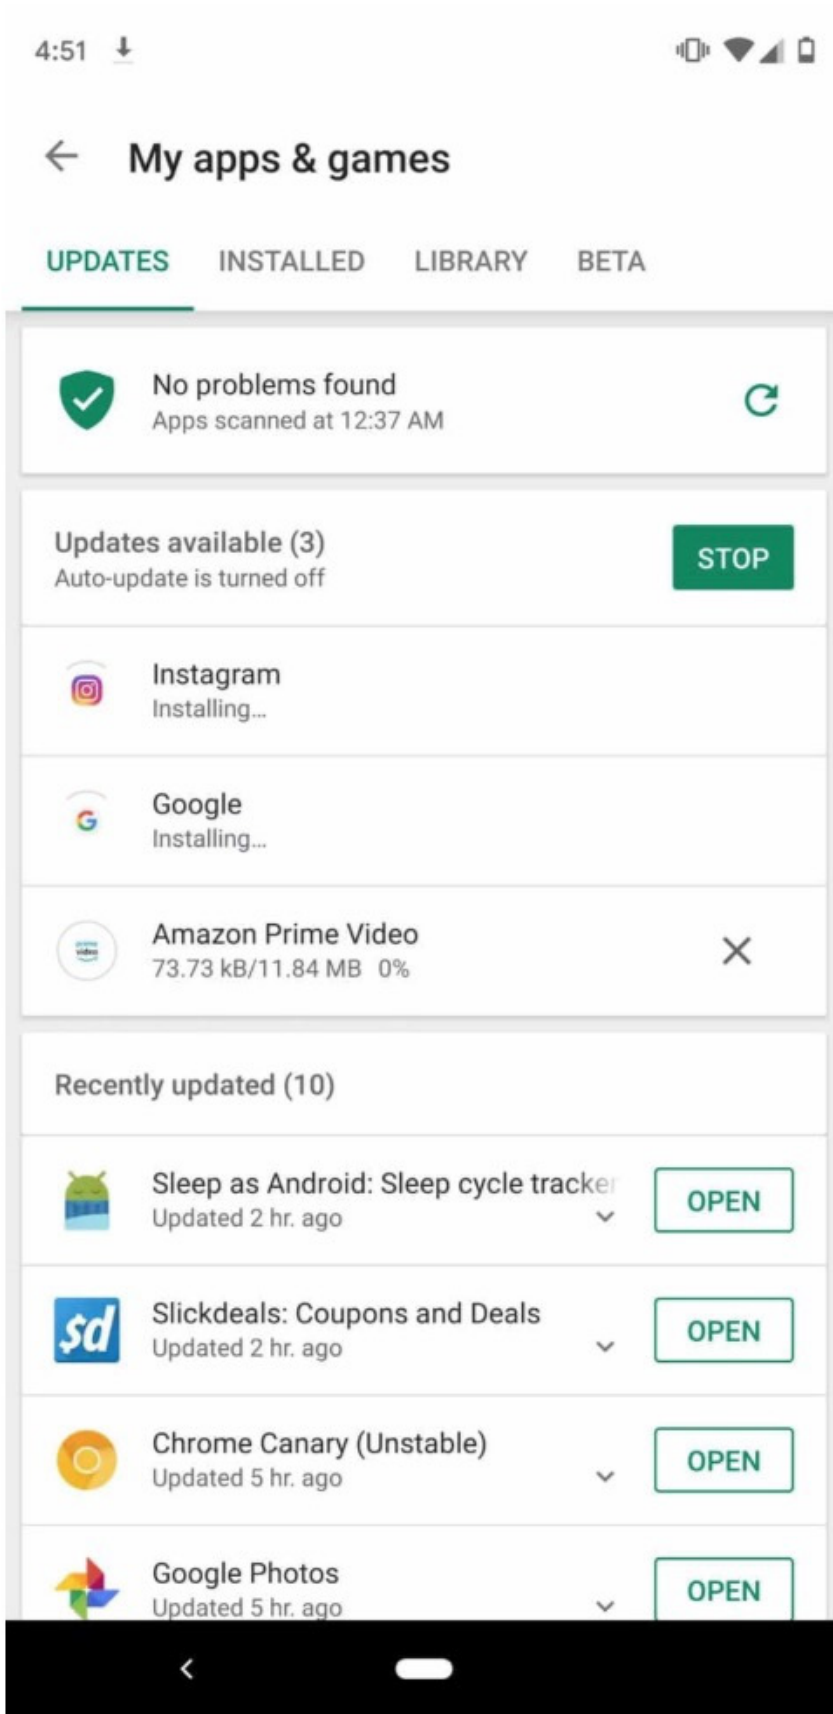

YouTube
Updated 0 min. ago

OPEN

In addition to the ability to download multiple applications at the same time, the new Play Store version is also added by Google, another new feature that allows developers to share their applications soon to a test channel for users to can experience soon.

You finished reading the article "Users will soon be able to download multiple applications at once on the Google Play Store" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
