

Vaio laptop will ship with Chrome browser

Computer maker Sony will ship Vaio fashion laptops with Chrome browser installed.

Computer maker Sony will ship Vaio fashion laptops with Chrome browser installed. This is the first business relationship between Google and a computer manufacturer to compete with Microsoft .

This partnership will expand Google's market share for Chrome browser in the area where most of the market share is focused on the two giants Microsoft and Mozilla. According to Google spokesman Eitan Bencuya, the partnership with Sony began this summer, but he declined to comment on the business relationship and Sony's computer models will be installed. preset Chrome browser.

Google said it is exploring ways for users to access Chrome more. And the relationship with Sony as a test process of the company for computer manufacturers. Sony is the pioneer to pave the way for installing Chrome browser on computers marketed and the company is considering similar partnerships with other computer manufacturers. Along with users having to choose to install IE on Windows 7 and this cooperation method, Google hopes the market share of Chrome browser will increase significantly.

According to market researcher Net Applications, Google introduced Chrome browser in September 2008 and maintained the gap with 4 other firms in the browser market share and accounted for 2.59% of the global market share in the month. 7. Meanwhile, Microsoft's IE browser still dominates this market with 67.7%, Firefox 22.5% and Safari 4%.

You finished reading the article "Vaio laptop will ship with Chrome browser" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

