

Video comparing opening fingerprint lock: 5S vs S5

Fingerprint recognition is the feature I appreciate the most on 5s as well as on S5. In this extremely short video, you find yourself trying to compare using a fingerprint sensor to unlock the two phones.

Fingerprint recognition is the feature I appreciate the most on 5s as well as on S5. In this extremely short video, you find yourself trying to compare using a fingerprint sensor to unlock the two phones.

With 5s, you press the home button and save your hand on that time interval of about 1 / 10s and the device will open. Also in S5 , you press the Home button to open the screen and then wipe your hand through the Home button to open the machine. Calculating the operation, S5 costs a bit more but the ability to identify is almost the same. This is a quick test, and how to use it for a long time is shared with you later.
