Viettel notice accidentally revealed the iOS 13.3 release date.

According to Viettel's instructions, users need to update the iPhone's iOS to 13.3 or newer, update Apple Watch to watchOS 6.1.1 to enable and use eSIM for Apple Watch.

With Viettel's eSIM service being implemented starting Friday, December 13, we can predict that Apple will release iOS 13.3 at the same time. It could be December 11 because Apple usually sends updates to users on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Some new features on iOS 13.3

1. The feature Limit the communication in the Screen Time section allows children to be able to contact which phone numbers within a fixed period of time.
2. NFC, USB and Lightning FIDO2 tags can be used as a physical key instead of two-factor authentication on Safari.
3. Support to disable Memoji Stickers in keyboard.
4. The Apple Watch app icon has been tweaked, and the Digital Crown's color changes to gray instead of black as it is today.
