

Warning: FaceApp, the hot face change application for young people, contains a hidden danger

FaceApp is a special image filter application that can change your face into children or from old to young and vice versa, even gender change.

FaceApp is a special image filter application that can change your face into children or from old to young and vice versa, even gender change. This application was released a few years ago but now the world network community "dig back".

Images edited by FaceApp look quite realistic because the application uses a special artificial intelligence system to process photos.

After going through FaceApp's editing hand, I think Tim Cook of Apple or superheroes when I get old will look like this.

With 'Thor 4' on the schedule, someone get Old Cap a shield 🛡️ #FaceApp

Dịch Tweet

But recently developer Joshua Nozzi discovered that the FaceApp application after being granted access to the photo archive folder tried to download all the photos in his device even though he didn't choose any photo.

Application FaceApp does not process images directly on smartphones but uses artificial intelligence on the cloud platform so it only needs to upload photos that users choose. The fact that he tried to upload all the photos contained in the device made Nozzi worried about the security of personal information, especially the photos of the user by having many sensitive images or storing personal information that Users do not want to share.

Currently FaceApp has not given any feedback before this incident. However, the security policy of FaceApp also has many suspicious points when it is said that the application can collect user data, such as photos or other documents that you post through FaceApp but do not specify. purpose of using them.

The fact that an application has full access to and uploading photos in smartphones can be a big security hole leading to shaky scandals like 'Fappingen', hackers stole hot photos of more than 100 houses. Star leading the world through iCloud in 2014.

1. Dangerous application that can "penetrate" women's clothing in seconds has been removed

You finished reading the article "Warning: FaceApp, the hot face change application for young people, contains a hidden danger" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.