

Watch Fit 3: Huawei's upcoming watch is suspected of imitating the Apple Watch

A series of leaked photos of Watch Fit 3 posted by Roland Quant account on X shows a design similar to Apple's watch, including the Digital Crown rotating button.

A series of leaked photos of Watch Fit 3 posted by Roland Quant account on X shows a design similar to Apple's watch, including the Digital Crown rotating button.

The versions said to be the upcoming Watch Fit 3 have three styles of silicone straps similar to the Apple Watch and one is a horizontal pin strap similar to a regular watch. SWatch Fit 3 also has options such as dark gray, pink and light yellow.

Roland Quandt
@rquandt

Huawei Watch Fit 3 - they're going full Apple Watch clone mode with that new, more squarish screen and the crown up there in the right corner it seems.

4:05 PM · Apr 19, 2024 · 123.7K Views

Gsmarena site commented that Watch Fit 3 is "surprisingly" similar from the curved lines to the position of the knob and said that in the near future, Watch Fit 3 could be a unique choice if you like Apple. Watch but want to use it with Android phone.

The screen of Huawei's upcoming smartwatch is also curved inside but the edges are thicker than the new Apple Watch Series 8. The images also show that the watch face interface of Watch Fit 3 also has many similarities with Apple products.

Along with the rounded design, curved glass on top, the position of the two buttons are also details that make the Watch Fit 3 even more difficult to distinguish from the Apple Watch. In particular, the rotating button above resembles the Digital Crown and the function button located right below is made in the same color tone as the body of the case.

When carefully observing the metal frame and screen border, users can recognize the difference between these two products, but that does not make the Huawei Watch Fit 3 different from the Apple Watch.

The Watch Fit 3 was originally supposed to launch alongside the new Pura 70 series of phones but it seems Huawei has changed its plans. As expected, Watch Fit 3 will be introduced next May.

You finished reading the article "Watch Fit 3: Huawei's upcoming watch is suspected of imitating the Apple Watch" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.