The transport system in Rules of Survival is now quite diverse. You can choose motorbikes, airplanes, boats to move, choose to match the terrain as playing in the last round. However, there will be some weapons that are 'enemies' of all kinds of vehicles, because their power can destroy any means. Let's see what weapons have the power to attack any vehicle in Rules of Survival.

Weapons destroy the armor of Rules of Survival

1. PRG

PRG possesses tremendous damage power with the ability to shoot from an extremely accurate distance with just one shot. The task of the player is to aim very accurately, calculate the flight direction of the missile. Note that it will be more difficult to aim at the missile's flight path.

However, finding RPG in the game is not easy, not to mention the weight of this weapon is relatively heavy. The amount of bullets fired is relatively small, so it is necessary to shoot accurately. Another note is that RPG is also an easy weapon to squeeze a team, so be careful when using it.

2. MG M249

The MG M249 possesses up to 100 rounds of ammunition, promoting the ability to shoot at close range, used for close combat, attacking vehicles, ships or airplanes.

The search for the MG M249 gun is also quite difficult, usually only in relief bins. MG M249 has a relatively high recoil without any support for shock absorbers. Many gamers often overlook MG M249 and choose Barrett. MG M249 has a relatively heavy weight and occupies a lot of space in the backpack. The adjustment of the firing line of MG M249 is also difficult, not to mention the relatively low gun stability.

3. P90

The P90 possesses 50 shots, the P90's firing speed is also relatively fast, but the recoil is quite high. But we can use the shock absorber barrel, the barrel-fitting accessory. If you have all of these accessories, then the P90 is definitely the weapon that takes down all kinds of 'most terrible' means of the game. P90 is only suitable for close-quarter shooting with close targets.

4. Thompson

Unlike the guns on Thompson, many are used in games, used in all cases from melee, in bo. You can upgrade to 60 capsules / band if there are enough accessories.

Thompson has the same level of damage as M4A1, the speed is very fast. With the Thompson full of accessories including Shock Absorber, Vertical Handle, Upgrade ammunition, and Reddot or X2 barrel, you certainly have a powerful gun that can lower armored vehicles.

Of course, the process of finding the full accessories for Thompson was not easy. When there are not enough accessories, the gun will reduce its power somewhat. Another weakness is that the gun's range is relatively limited.

With the list above you will have more options when faced with the kind of vehicles by the enemy. If finding a difficult RPG or a backpack doesn't contain enough M249, you can also use Thompson, the popular gun in Rules of Survival. But try to find the full range of accessories for guns to maximize your power.
