

What does the early version of the 20 familiar objects 'once upon a time' look like?

Here are some interesting pictures of how the progress and civilization of the 20 familiar objects that once changed completely changed our lives. Invite you to consult!

1. When you get rich, can you shop for me these 14 "heavenly" items?
2. Top 10 most expensive but useless items in the world
3. 16 small but wonderful things are only available in Japan

Of course many of us will be surprised to see the early versions of things that everyone sees every day. There is a rule that is always true that everything changes over time .

Every day new, our world appears new technologies and familiar objects today will have new functions or completely improved. Therefore, it is understandable when we cannot expect what familiar objects now look like when they are born.

Here are some interesting pictures of how the progress and civilization of 20 familiar objects "once upon a time" completely changed our lives. Invite you to consult!

Apple first computer - Apple I

© wikimedia

First car of Ford - Model A

© Jack Snell / flickr
First Bosch refrigerator

© BoschGlobal / twitter
The first Samsung TV - P-3202

© DavisTelevisionServicesLimited / facebook
First Siemens mobile phone - Mobiltelefon C1

© jeeancarl / twitter
The first version of Microsoft Windows

© wikipedia

The first catalog page of the famous furniture company IKEA

© thedesigngarden / twitter

Canon's first camera - Kwanon

© ishiguro / flickr
First Lego toy - Wood Duck

© DomCarterAgain / twitter
Harley-Davidson motorcycle first

© wikipedia
The first Starbucks cafe

© wikipedia
HP's first laptop - HP-110

© wikipedia
Nivea's first moisturizer

© NIVEA_ES / twitter
Sega's first console game - SG-1000

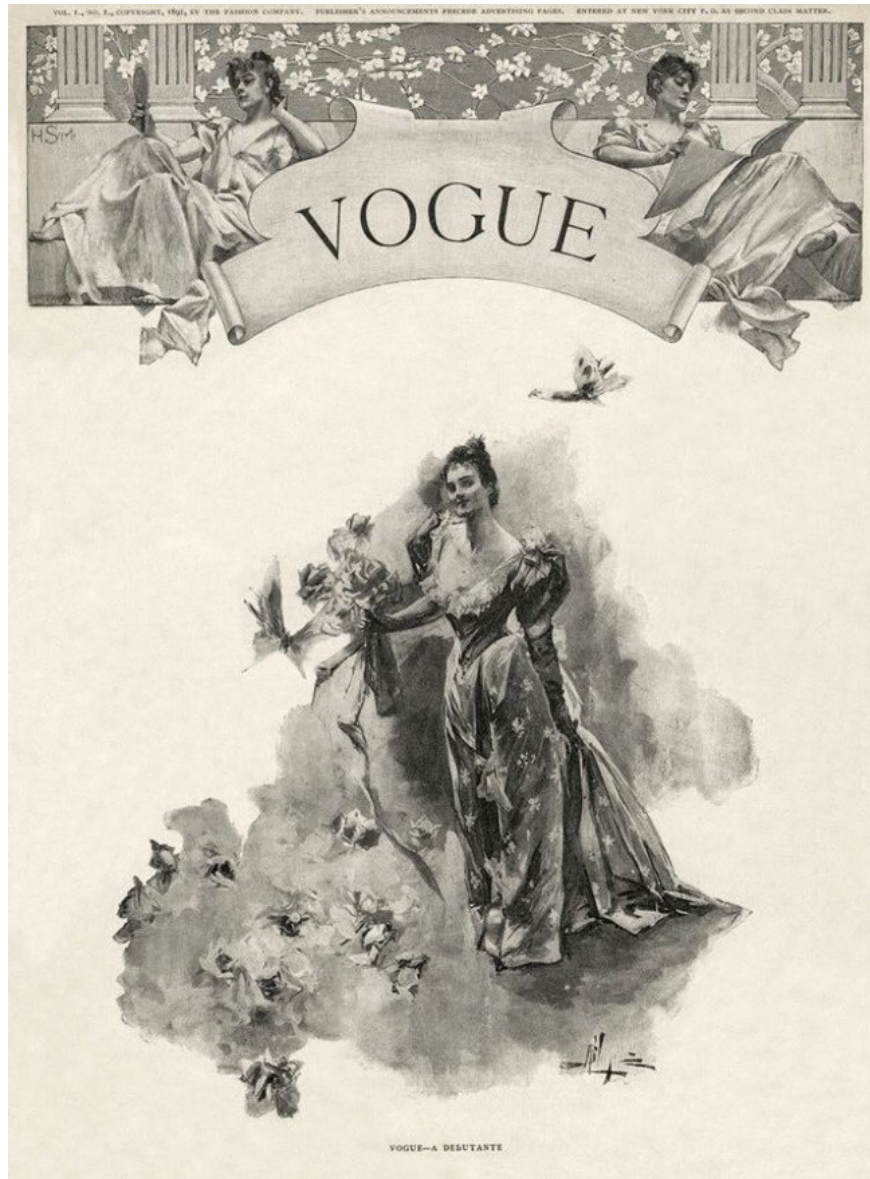

© wikimedia
Chanel No.5 - Chanel No.5

© gemeentemuseum / twitter
The first Sony camcorder - HVC-F1

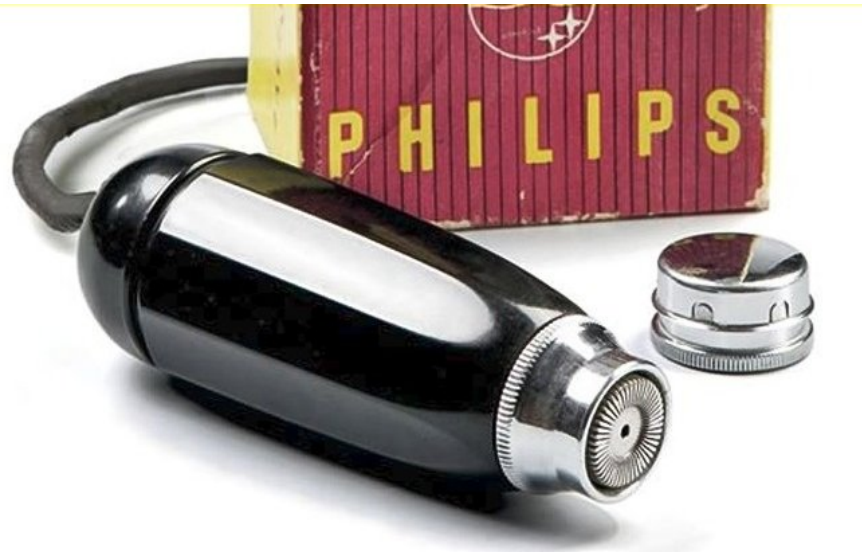

© MaximDesignNYC / twitter
The first cover page of Vogue magazine

© Philips_ID / twitter

The first shaver for Philips - Philishave 7730

© GRAZIASAmag / twitter
First appearance of Barbie doll

© CBRProducts / twitter

Apple's first smartphone - iPhone

Colgate's first toothpaste - Colgate tooth whitening powder

© MgmResonance / twitter

Bonus: World's oldest condom (370 years old)

© genreauthor.blogspot.md © depositphotos

The oldest surviving contraceptive device in the world was put on display at the Austrian museum. This reusable sheepskin condom was used in Sweden in the 1600s. Even its instructions for use were preserved, which recommended that it be cleaned with Using warm milk helps users avoid getting venereal disease.

See more: Watching 20+ "most charming" beard wins World Beard And Mustache 2017!

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "What does the early version of the 20 familiar objects 'once upon a time' look like?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.