

What is Docx file? How to open Docx file?

Text files in .Docx format for versions from Microsoft Word 2007 or higher (before that, the file is in .Doc format). And to open these .Docx files, you need to have Office 2007 or later installed (Office 2010, Office 2013, Office 2016).

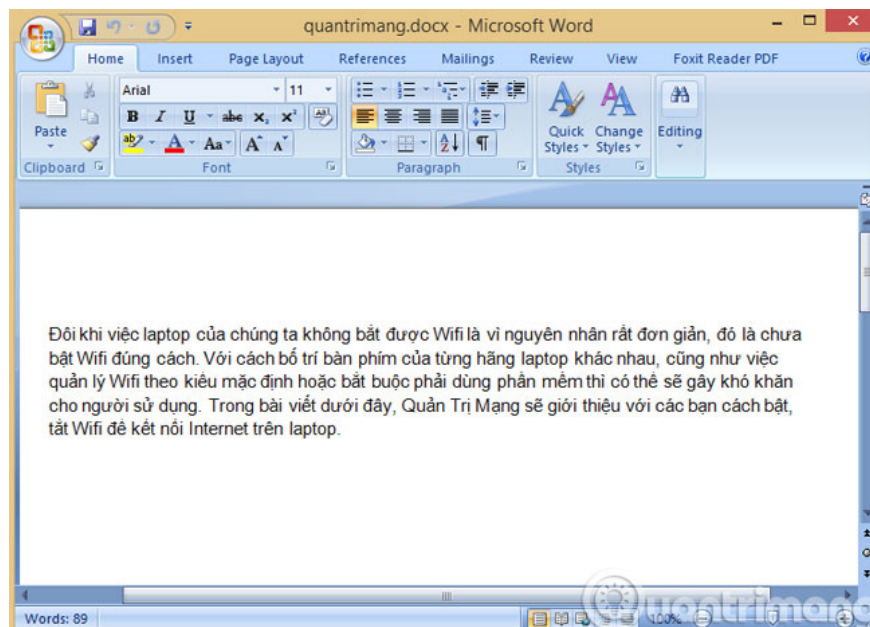

On a nice day, you check your mail and see someone send you a .Docx file, but you don't know how to open it. Don't worry, please refer to our information below.

Text files in .Docx format for versions from Microsoft Word 2007 or higher ( before that, the file is in .Doc format ). And to open these .Docx files, you need to have Office 2007 or later installed ( Office 2010 , Office 2013 , Office 2016 ).

Compared to the old format, a .Docx file has only about half the capacity of the same content. In addition, this new format is also safer and easier to recover ( in case of file corruption ).

Another advantage of Docx files is that they are designed to support other non-Microsoft Office programs.

1. 10 features in Word 2013 make working faster and easier
2. 3 ways to insert non-marginal text in Word
3. How to quickly see the total number of pages of Word files?

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "What is Docx file? How to open Docx file?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.