

What is Social Networking?

Social networks can include many topics or focus on certain formats, topics, such as sharing photos, videos, social networks for gamers, finding jobs ...

The WhatIs page defines social expansion as the increase in the number of people involved in work and / or society through interpersonal connections, often on social networking sites like Facebook and Twitter. , LinkedIn or Google+.

Based on the concept of separating 6 levels (the idea that 2 people in the world cannot be related to each other by more than 5 intermediaries), social networks establish a network community (sometimes called is a social chart) that helps people connect with people they should know but has no chance.

Based on social networking platforms, members can associate with other members, initially with whom they have contacts, and then anyone who has contact with the intermediary.

Although social connections have existed for a long time, the emergence of the Internet has caused this phenomenon to explode. Besides social networking platforms, interactions between people are also included in many enterprise applications.

Today, social networks, or virtual communities, often refer to a website / application that allows people to talk, share ideas, interact and make friends. This type of collaboration and sharing is called social media. Unlike old-fashioned social methods often created by no more than 10 people, social media can contain content created by hundreds or millions of people.

Social networking can help you create another life

Some examples of social networks

Social networks can include many topics or focus on certain formats, topics, such as sharing photos, videos, social networks for gamers, finding jobs . Here are some examples. .

Facebook - the most used social network today, is a place for users to create profiles online, connect with friends, share photos, movies .

Google+ - Google's social network.

Instagram - social network sharing images on mobile and web.

LinkedIn - the best social network to find jobs and work-related articles.

YouTube - social network sharing videos.

Today social networks are used by many people because it helps them update information about friends and relatives as well as find new friends. This is also the place where you can find interesting information, images . from people with similar interests.

Each social networking site has a different account and user registration process, but most are free and very simple. If you are using the Internet and want to find interesting things, choose yourself social networks according to your needs.

See more:

1. Want to disappear from the Internet, do you think erasing your social network account is done?
2. Facebook dropped out of the top 3 social networks most used by young Americans
3. This is why I stopped using Facebook and Twitter after 10 years of use

You finished reading the article "What is Social Networking?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.