New feature on iOS 11.4

1. ClassKit Library

The first feature of iOS 11.4 is called ClassKit - the most preferred part on iOS 11.4 after Apple officially introduced it at the recent educational event. ClassKit is an iPad app that helps teachers as well as students keep track of assignments and learning processes. With what Classkit supports, teachers can easily explore specific learning activities in the application, take students directly to appropriate activities with just one click and share data securely. . In particular, students also experience new learning methods, especially with Apple's 2018 iPad.

2. AirPlay 2

As we know, Airplay 2 was included in iOS 11.3 beta, but when it was officially released, Apple removed this feature. It is possible that AirPlay 2 has not really worked properly and Apple has decided to leave this feature as a highlight in iOS 11.4.

AirPlay 2. Home, sweet-sounding home.

With the new AirPlay 2, you can control your home audio system and the speakers throughout your house. You can play a song in the living room and your kitchen at the same time. Adjust the volume in any room. Or have your music start instantly on all your speakers — in sync with one another.

With AirPlay 2, you can stream music to compatible devices and speakers on the same Wi-Fi network. All information and controls will be available on iOS devices, Apple TV boxes, or iTunes. . For example, you can control the home audio system and your home speaker. You can also play a song in your living room and kitchen at the same time. Even adjust the volume in any room or open music instantly on all your speakers - they are synchronized.

3. Message on iCloud

Message on iCloud allows iMessage to store conversations and attachments online, making it easier for messages from old devices to switch to new devices. Obviously this feature is waiting for a lot of users but perhaps Apple still wants to ensure privacy for everyone. Although Message on iCloud has appeared on some iOS versions, it was eventually deleted. According to the initial prediction this feature will return on iOS 11.3, but that still does not happen and hopefully it will be available on iOS 11.4.

So when iOS 11.4 comes out?

There is no official release date for iOS 11.4, but based on the event calendar, iOS 11.4 will be officially released at WWDC 2018 - scheduled for June 4, along with a trial version. iOS 12. Experience from now until June, maybe you will get the beta of iOS 11.4 if you participate in testing the new iOS version.
