'What do you bring with you when you have a fire?' For many Vietnamese, perhaps bring the most precious things to take care of for the next few days. However, in the country of the Jews, when they burned their houses, they only brought books, and books were their greatest asset.

Referring to Jews, we all know that this is a smart, rich people and there are many talented people in every field. To achieve these successes, perhaps their greatest merit is the education of their children from an early age. We can easily find countless interesting teaching lessons from Jewish parents, including teaching children how to read.

The ratio of the number of Jewish readers of the world is top. Books not only give them knowledge but also bring spiritual values, train their thinking ability and creativity.

'Reading 101 times is better than reading 100 times'

With a book, to understand all the contents of the transmission book, you cannot read through the speaker, read once, we need time to read and study each part. Read for the second time, the third time we fully understand what the meaning of each sentence in the book is. Then came the fourth time, reading to extract the most quintessential values ??for the application itself.

After reading it, don't forget it in a corner, but take it out and read it every month. The Jewish people think that, after each reading, we can discover more interesting and new things in this book. So, a book read hundreds of times will never admit to anyone.

The property left for children is books, and books are everywhere

In the Jewish homeland, the population is only 8 million, but they have up to 1,000 public libraries for people to read. In addition to the public library, most families have a library of mini books in the house. And this bookcase is always placed at the bedside of children.

The assets that all Jewish parents leave behind for their children are the bookcases and there will be at least 10 titles of all time.

Children in Israel read books from the age of 14. No successful Jew does not take the time to read, to learn, to enrich knowledge.

Thus, since ancient times Jews have regarded knowledge as a special kind of capital because they can produce capital and wealth, and are not robbed. And this important factor helps Jews achieve superior intelligence compared to the rest of the world.

'What should we bring when we burn the house?'

With this question, will each of us have their own answers like money or jewelry, machines? As for Jews teaching children to bring . books. This is also one of the proofs of how much the Jews love books .

'Kissing sweet books'

There is a common custom of Jews that is the "sweet kiss" ritual. With this holiday, the first time we come into contact with books, Jewish parents will put a drop of honey into the book and let their children smell and taste it. In this way, they taught me that books are sweet. Since then, love with books will grow in them.
