

What's in Genshin Impact 1.1?

Expected in November, Genshin Impact will update to version 1.1 to add new events, characters and features. Some information of this update has been leaked online, if correct, you will have the opportunity to enjoy new mechanics such as co-op 8 player, or collect a new cast of characters.

The 1.1 test was finalized around mid-September. A Reddit user revealed some interesting information from Chinese publisher Mihoyo about the new features and characters that will appear in this version.

If the leak information on the network is correct, then Genshin Impact will bring many new and interesting surprises in version 1.1.

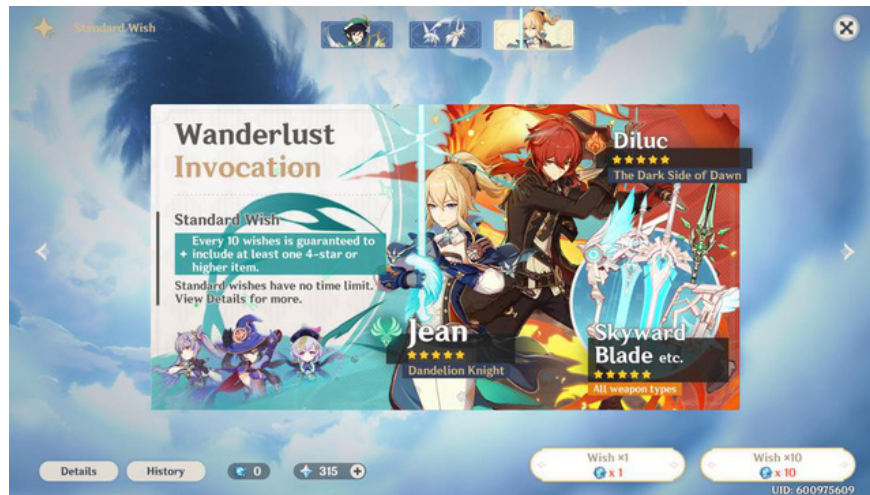

What's in Genshin Impact 1.1?

The biggest change is with the game's gacha system, in which the gacha percentage won't be made public anymore. Coverage will be changed to 10 times guarantee for a 4 star Bonding Fate and a 4 star weapon. 50 times the gacha will guarantee a 5 star Bonding Fate and a 5 star weapon.

Players can use Bonding Fate to double the number of stars. However, Bonding Fate is only used for certain characters' banners and will expire if the banner rate ends.

The player doesn't need to worry either, as the team of Genshin Impact will compensate the entire Bonding Fate corresponding to the number of times you've shot the gacha in 1.0.

Some other changes will be updated in version 1.1, especially the 8-player co-op mechanism and other side quests.

Genshin's main quest will be updated according to the Teyvat world storyline, for players who have reached the 32nd Adventure Rank.

There are a number of other small changes are also updated, such as notification when friends online, can receive Pure Plastic daily, updated private chat feature, open limit of 60 fps for Android platform.

In addition, a new city called Inazuma will appear in 1.1, inspired by Japan.

New character in Genshin Impact 1.1

Zhong Li

a new Lava-type character will appear in the 1.1 version, although he appeared as an NPC but in the next version, Zhong Li will officially become a 5-star playable character.

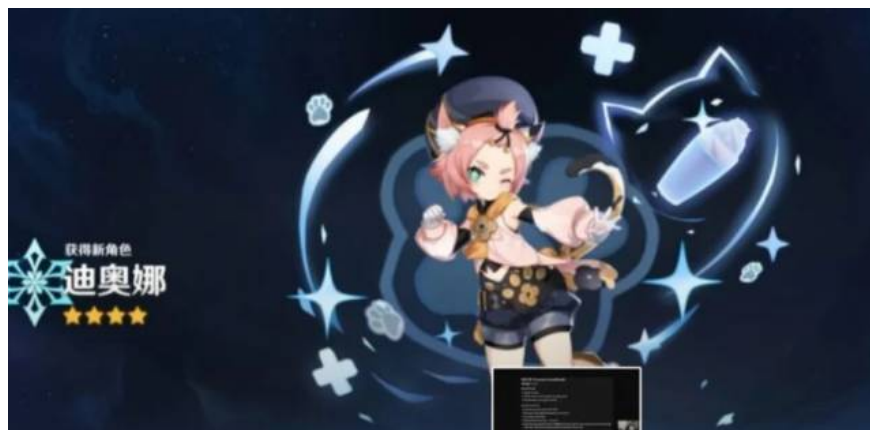

Xinyan

This is also a new 4-star character of the fire system, although there is very little information about this character. Based on the lute in Xinyan's hand, maybe she would use a magician-type weapon.

Diona

This is an ice-type character with a super cute "lolita" look, belonging to a 4-star character.

Childe

another 5-star character will also appear in version 1.1, according to a leak, Childe is a spear-type character.

Hidden Characters

Currently, there is not much information about this mysterious character. However, this character is obtainable if the player reaches Level 42 Adventure Class and completes the main storyline. There is a high possibility that this character will be related to Inazuma - a country with a cultural style similar to Japan. Based on the character's kanji name, it is possible that her name is Kamizato Ayaka.

Dainsleif

This character just debuted a few days ago on the official Twitter page of Genshin Impact. While not confirmed to launch in version 1.1, Dainsleif still has a high chance of being updated by the end of the version, or if not the next one.

Of course, there's no way to confirm any leak about the 1.1 release of Genshin Impact. Even so, there are still a lot of features and changes that are highly likely to be updated because of a shortage in 1.0.

The characters are highly likely to appear in the update, so players can temporarily trust the information about these new characters to prepare gacha resources.

Currently, you can play Genshin Impact on platforms like PC, Playstation 4, Android or IOS. If you have become a Traveler since version 1.0, you will need a higher adventure level than level 20 to experience the new features in the game in 1.1 and the next version.

You finished reading the article "What's in Genshin Impact 1.1?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.