

What's new in Gmail 4.0 for iOS?

The first impressive feature is answering messages directly from notifications without opening the Gmail application. This will help users save more time when using.

Google has just released version 4.0 of the Gmail application for devices running iOS.

The first impressive feature is answering messages directly from notifications without opening the Gmail application. This will help users save more time when using. Besides, this update also allows attaching images and documents to Gmail directly from other applications. In addition, users can open email attachments with other applications.

However, Gmail for iOS version is almost unavailable when users are offline, as opposed to on Android . If you find it inconvenient, you can use Outlook to manipulate email messages from Gmail without an Internet connection.

Along with Gmail for iOS, Google also released updates for Hangouts , Google Drive , Google Play Store for Android devices.

You finished reading the article "What's new in Gmail 4.0 for iOS?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.